EFFENDI SUBMITS NOTE TO MINISTERS

Turkish Council Considering Draft of Reply to Powers

INSISTS ON ADRIANOPLE

Also Refuse to Abandon Agean Islands Near Her Coast--Fighting Reported

MAY PRECIPITATE WAR

CONSTANTINOPLE, JAN 16.—The Turkish foreign minister Noradunghian Effendi, tonight submitted to the council of ministers a draft of the reply to the note of the powers. It is understood that it insists upon retention of Adrianople for the following reasons:

First. Because the Burgarian inhibitants are in the minority in Adrianople, not only in comparison with the moslems but as compared with other Christians, second, because the splendid defense of the garrison; third, the loss of Adrianople, containing the temples of the Caliphs, would ruin the prestige of Islam; fourth, the loss of Adrianople which is the gate of Constantinople, would endanger the existence of the empire.

"The porte therefore favors", the reply continues, "that the powers take consideration of the vital necessities of the empire and market representations to the Balkan states with a view of peace. Turkey desires to find a common ground of understanding and will even consent to fresh sacrifices."

Wants Islands Near Coast.

Regarding the Aegean Islands, the reply declares that Turkey refuses to abandon the islands near her coasts, but is ready to continue pourparlers respecting the distant islands.

Noradunghian Effendi has instructed the Ottoman ambassadors abroad again to sound the powers with regard to Adrianople. The superior council of war handed the Council of Ministers a report on the militaray situation.

The Russian ambassador tonight visited Noradunghian Effendi and it is rumored that he urged the foreign minister to take the note of the powers under seirous consideration. The Itailian ambassador interviewed Noradunghian Effendi on the subject of the Aegean Islands.

It is reported that there have been slight encounters at Tchataija between the Turks and Bulgars.

May Precipitate War.

London, Jan. 18.—Turkey's decision as indicated by despatches from Constantinople tonight, refusing to cede Adrianople and the Aegean Islands, it is believed here will lead to the resumption of hostilities within a week. The Balkan allies, after considering the whole situation among themselves to day, had already decided to wait until the middle of next week for the answer of the porte to the joint note of the powers, and if then the reply was not received, or was not satisfactory to address a communication to the Turkish delegation in the form of a definite ultimatum, allowing Turkey 48 or 72 hours for a final decision.

Should Turkey at that time be unable or unwilling to come to the allies' terms the Balkan plenipotentiaries decided that a rupture of the peace conference was inevitable. Sofia, Belgrade and Cettinje would denounce the armstice and four days later the war would be resumed.

Instruction on Adrianople Categorial

The allies do not admit or to be more exact, do not see the possibility of such proposals from Turkey or the powers as would allow of a resumption of negotiations, unless the porte openly declared its readiness to give up Adrianople. So far, the instructions of the Burgarian delegates are categorical on this subject and do not admit of a discussion of the proposal that Turkey retain Adrianople, even of dismantling the fortifications, or continuing negotiations on the other conditions of peace, leavig the question of Adrianople to be disposed of last.

Servia, Montenegro and Greece all support Bulgaria in this attitude. The success of Bulgarih would mean an easier accomplishment of their wishes especially in the case of Greece which in the conquest of Adrianople by Bulgaria sees the Greek occupation of Saloniki less likely to be disputed. In addition the allies feel that the time will never be more favorable for them to act.

From the reports received it is evident that the Turkish resources are not in the best of condition, while on the other hand, the allies as he result of their long preparation are nerved to a high pitch. The seven weeks armistice has restored their armies, and they have been gathering their forces at the important points.

Throughout all the Balkan states, according to the plenipotentiaries in London, from the largest towns to the humblest hamlets, only on cry Europe forever."

"War to the bitter end—until our eternal enemy is driven out of Europe forever."

U. S. OIL COMPANY AND INDIANS FIGHT FISCHER

PRESENT CHARGES AGAINST OTHER GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

Basis of Charges Against Secretary of Interior are That He Had Aided Standard Oil Co.'s Interests By Refusing to Prove the U. S. Leases.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 18.—The fight between the interior department the Uncle Sam Oil Company, and members of the tribal council of the Osage Indians, who were deposed recently by Secretary Fisher and whose actions have been referred to the department of justice, for investigation was thrust upon the attention of congress an dthe courts here to day. Representatives of the deposed tribesman spent the day before the Indian affairs committee of the house presenting charges against Secretary Fisher and other government officials. Early in the day some of the deposed members of the Osage council secured from the district court a mandamus against Secretary Fisher, to compel him to show cause next Tuesday why they should not be re-instated.

The basis of the charges against the Secretary of the interior was that he had aided the Standard Oil company's interests by refusing to prove the Uncle Sam Leases. A bill is now before congress to validate them. In a counted statement filed with the committee when the hearing began, Secretary Fisher declared that the actions of the officials of the Uncle Sam Oil company and the council of the Osage tribe, in negotiating the leases, were such that they had been referred for investigation to the department of justice and because of that fact could not discuss them publicly.

The department of justice late to day, through assistance Attorney General Knaebel, transmitted to the United States district attorney at Guthrie, Okla., the reports and documents from Secretary Fisher, alleging that "undue influence" had been used upon the deposed members of the Osage tribe in the negotation of the leases. If the investigation by the district attorney warrants such action the case will be laid before the grand jury in Oklahoma.

MANY WARRANTS ARE ISSUED FOR EAST ST. LOUIS GAMBLERS

Secret Investigation of Conditions By State's Attorney and Business Men Results in Wholesale Raiding and Arrests.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 18.—A secret investigation of gambling in East St. Louis, Ill., culminated late to day in a stimultaneous raid on alleged gambling places and the arrest of proprietors and operators of the game.

Before making the raids state's Attorney Webb of St. Clair county obtained about 150 warrants. The warrants were served this afternoon. Prosecutor Webb has arranged for a special grand jury to make an investigation of the moral conditions of the county.

Warrants were issued for 14 men among them, G. W. Thompson, former sheriff of St. Louis county, Mo., and former Chief of Police of East St. Louis. He is charged in ten warrants with permitting gambling in his saloon. Two employes of Thompson's saloons also were named in warrants.

The raid on the alleged gamblers came as a result of the efforts of the East St. Louis protective association to stop gambling. The association, which is composed of thirty business men, feeling that efforts to get the East St. Louis police to stop gambing he failed, appealed to State's Attorney Webb to take a hand in the matter. On January 3rd, he began his investigations.

In his annual report of the activities of the United Mine Workers during the last year, President White criticises the West Virginia authorities for their action during the strike in progress there. Col. Goethals before naval affairs committee said force of 25,000 soldiers was necessary to guard Panama canal.

Representative Humphrey introduced bill to close Panama canal to trust owned ships.

Adjourned at 6:03 p. m., until noon Monday.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 18.—A garrison of 25,000 men will be necessary to guard the Panama canal Colonel Goethals told the house naval affairs committee today. Under present plans congress would provide for a garrison of only 8,000 men.

"Once we lost control of the sea in a war," he said, "we would have to depend upon the garrison on the zone. We could not expect to get reinforcements there from the United States. The locks, the vital portion of the canal should be guarded by a large force and the Atlantic and Pacific ends of the canal should be garrisoned. At least 25,000 men would be needed properly to guard the canal."

Col. Goethals lauded the work done by the marines in the canal zone and urged the retention of a considerable force of marines there. His statement that the canal could hardly be held if the United States lost control of the sea, aroused much interest in the committee and later in the day Representative Hobson of Alabama urged provision for a larger army in the debate on the military appropriation bill quoted Colonel Goethals at length.

Hot Debate on Army Amendment.

An amendment to the army appropriation bill to prohibit the transportation at government expense of army horses to participate in polo games and races, offered late today by Representative Burke of South Dakota, precipitated a heated debate and resulted in an adjournment of the house on the point of no quorum. Representatives Burke, Madden of Illinois and others advocated adoption of the amendment. Representative Hay of Virginia, chairman of the committee and Mann of Illinois, opposed it, insisting that army men were permitted to enter their horses in games and races because the practice tended to aid the movement for improvement in mounts.

An amendment to the bill to restore the army canteen, offered by Representative Barthholdt of Missouri was ruled out on a point of order.

M'COMBS SILENT ON ILLINOIS DEADLOCK

WANTS TWO DEMOCRATIC SENATORS FROM THIS STATE

In Addressing Southern Club of Chicago Democratic Leader Says He Has No Doubt Differences at Springfield Will Be Removed Soon.

CHICAGO, JAN. 18.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee spent today in Chicago and at night addressed the annual banquet of the Southern club of Chicago. The Democratic leader had a number of consultations during the day with Illinois Democratic chiefs over the deadlock in the organization of the state legislature but had little to say in public over the situation.

"Illinois should send two Democrats to the United States senate," he said. "I cannot believe that with this possibility in sight and the need of Democratic members of the senate that the Illinois legislators will permit factional differences to choke their power."

Mr. McCombs said that he had no doubt that the surface differences at Springfield soon would be removed and that the Democratic members of the legislature would unite their efforts to elect two United States senators.

Lunched With Dunne.

Mr. McCombs lunched today with Governor-elect Dunne, Charles Boeschenstein, Col. J. Hamilton Lewis, Lawrence Stringer, Roger C. Sullivan, William O'Connell, John Barton Payne and Dixon C. Williams.

At the Southern club banquet, Mr. McCombs said that the last national campaign showed that a southerner could be elected president of the United States.

"It also has shown," he said, "that the south is a patriotic factor in national politics, and that the interests of the south are not bound up in narrow sectionalism. The south has spoken and once more its voice is the voice of the nation.

"Sectional lines have been broken and abolished, we hope for ever. The south is equal to bearing its part when the appeal is on issues of the present day and in its determined optimism the south will take the leadership in national thought that its wealth and patriotism entitle it to."

Mr. Dunne was unable to attend the banquet, being confined to his home, it was announced, by a mild attack of grippe.

Judge F. C. Dillard, vice-president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway and Col. Lewis were the other speakers.

Mr. McCombs expects to leave for New York tomorrow.

WAS NOT ABOARD ILL-FATED SHIP

Attorneys for Proctor Claim That Mrs. Proctor Did Not Sail On Titanic.

Cincinnati, Jan. 18.—Attorneys for Percy Proctor, a wealthy manufacturer who are contesting the efforts of Mrs. Proctor to have a divorce granted the former, set aside, stated in court here to day that they had investigated the claim of Mrs. Proctor that she was on the ill-fated Titanic when that vessel met with disaster and found that it was not true.

Proctor was granted a divorce on June 8th, without a contest. Mrs. Proctor claimed that she intended to come to Cincinnati last April to contest the suit, but that she took passage on the Titanic and when it was wrecked, was lowered in a life boat, picked up by a steamer and taken back to London.

Indianapolis, Jan 18.—"God will never settle the liquor question, because he has no vote." Was the way C. J. Hall, of California voiced his approval to separate the Prohibition party from all church organizations at to day's session of the National committee.

A. R. Buchanan of Norries, Wis., said he kept a saloon to show the people how they wasted $15,000 and won in his fight to elect Prohibitionists to all town offices.

O. L. Morrow, South Dakota, opposed holding meetings in churches and taking of collections.

TAFT ADDRESSES THE OHIO SOCIETY

Opposes Bill Giving Philippines Independence in Eight Years

DINES WITH A. D. WHITE

Henry Phipps, Pittsburg Steel Man Fails to Recognize President

WILL VISIT NEW HAVEN

New York, Jan. 18.—President Taft tonight paid one of his frequent Saturday night visits to New York, filling dinner engagements, chief among which was that with the Ohio society, at its annual banquet. Earlier in the evening he attended a private dinner given in honor of Andrew D. White, former president of Cornell university and had a tentative engagement to drop in later at the banquet of the Dutchess county society.

Tomorrow the president, who will spend the night at the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft, will address the annual convention of the Order of B Nai B Rith in this city, and after another night at his brother's home will go to New Haven, Conn., where he expects to make his home after retiring from the presidence for a brief visit. He plans to return here Monday evening, attend a theater and take a mid-night train for Washington. Mrs. Taft accompanied him on his trip here.

Phipps Does Not Recognize Taft.

When resident Taft entered the banquet hall where the dinner to former President Andrew D. White of Cornell was to be held tonight the first person he saw was Henry Phipps, the Pittsburgh steel man. The president offered his hand, and smilingly said:

"How do you do Mr. Phipps."

Mr. Phipps looked blankly at the president a moment.

"Pardon me, I don't seem to recall your face," he said.

A wave of laughter from the diners brought a smile to the president's face which had clouded for a second.

"Mr. Phipps," he said, "I think if you take a good look at me you will recall——"

Before the president could complete his sentence, Mr. Phipps, who had continued gazing intently at him, broke in with:

"Why, President Taft, I beg your pardon. I really did not recognize you."

The president laughed as he warmly shook Mr. Phipps by the hand, and walked to the place reserved for him. Mr. Phipps took the matter good naturedly and laughter with the rest of the diners.

Opposes hilippine Liberty.

President Taft in his speech at the Ohio dinner came out strongly against the bill before congress providing for independence for the Philippines in eight years.

"If I were a partisan I would not ask anything better than that the Democratic party should pass this bill and go out of the Philippines in eight years," he said. "The passage of this bill would make a mess and a muss that would return to plague the men responsible for it for twenty-five years.

"Is it possible," the president asked, "that little as this Democratic administration knows about the Philippines they are going to let them go and defeat our efforts to raise and educate the hilippine people; it is possible that it is going to do that with no foundation whatsoever and without the approval of somebody who knows the islands? I hope not. Possibly I am interested in the case, but I am interested chiefly in the Philippine people."

With the exception of $3,000,000 that has been appropriated to relieve famine, the president said, not a cent had been given by the United States for the civil government of the Philippines in the whole period of American administration. In two or three generations the islands would be in such shape that they could be given independence, but why do it now, he asked.

President Taft, who entered at a late hour, was escorted into the banquet room by a committee of members of the Ohio society and the life and drum corps of the Seventh Regiment, New York National Guard. He was given an ovation, the cheering lasting several minutes.

WEATHER MAN SAYS LOOK OUT FOR WINTER

DECLARES WINTER IS HIDING SOMEWHERE AND IS SURE TO COME

Two Weather Records Have Been Broken This Month, Low Temperature in California and Low Pressure in Southeastern States.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Balmy breezes and sunny days which are making folk think it is spring are to continue for some time, but Chief Willis L. Moore, of the weather bureau, is out with a warning that winter is hiding somewhere and it is sure to come.

Reports of most unusual weather conditions telling of flowers in bloom, trees budding and birds venturing out from winter quarters are coming into the weather bureau.

"Atmospheric conditions over the American continent may be likened to nothing so aptly as a bubbling caldron which soon is to boil over," is the way Henry E. Williams, assistant chief of the bureau, puts it, "and when it does, it will mean a change in weather conditions in every part of the country. The trouble is that no one can tell just at what point the caldron will boil over."

Several times this month disturbances have attempted to make their way out of the northwest toward the Atlantic but always the resultant cold weather has been of short duration. So far this month two weather records have been broken. One was the low temperature of Califronia and the other the low pressure record of the southeastern states.

The temperature has been more nearly normal in Minnesota and the Dakotas while it has been generally above the normal elsewhere, especially in the Atlantic coast states.

CHICAGO GARMENT WORKERS MAY JOIN NEW YORKERS IN STRIKE

Forty Thousand Workers of Chicago May Join Strike in Sympathy With the Gotham Unions.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Threats of forty thousand Chicago garment workers to walk out in sympathy with the New York strikers became positive today. A strike committee composed of business agents of local unions was appointed and empowered to manage all details attending a contemplated walkout.

At a mass meeting of non-union garment workers, 200 recruits pledged themselves to join the organized workers in case of a strike. Union organizers are said to be working in many big garment factories, urging non-union employes to join the organization.

"We are prepared for a general strike," Joseph S. Brimm, secretary of the district council of the Garment Workers in Chicago, said: "If we walk out this time there will be some definite results. Two years ago we were not prepared. We could not fight. But we can fight now and we will.

"Conditions among the garment workers in Chicago practically are the same as they are in New York. Workers are underpaid. They barely can live on their wages. Our principal demands are for a substantial increase in wages and elimination of 'sweat shop' work."

FIFTY UTE INDIANS DEFY CORTEZ SHERIFF

MILITIA MAY BE CALLED

Redmen Enraged by Killing of One of Their Tribe by A Sheep Herder

MAY RESULT SERIOUSLY

CORTEZ, COLO., JAN 18.—Fifty Ute Indians, enraged by the killing of one of their tribe n a rifle duel with a Mexican sheep herder, are off reservation, fortified in the Ute Mountains in Southwestern Colorado and defying the sheriff of Montezuma county and Indian Agent Spear to take from them Big Rabit an Indian, who shot and seriously wounded the sheep herder.

The Indians are armed with magazine rifles, and are making so determined a stand that the sheriff returned here to dayto get a posse of fifty men and pursue the Utes into the mountains.

Unless the Indians yield, he stated to reinforce him with militia.

The trouble with the Utes started a few days ago when, Joseph Vichel, a Mexican sheep herder refused to allow two Indian hunters to camp near his herd. A dispute arose, and the herder, according to his story was attacked by the Utes. He was shot and seriously wounded after he had killed one of his assialants. The other Indian returned with the body of his companion to the Ute reservation while Vichel was brought here.

The death of the Indian aroused the Utesc and a band was reported to have started for Cotez determined to demand the blood of the sheep herder in reprisal for the death of their tribesman.

Meauwhile the sheriff gathered a losse and started for the reservation to arrest Big Rabbit, the survivor of the two who attacked the Mexican. It was said the Utes fled, with Big Rabbit for the mountains determined to defend him.

There has been considerable local friction between the ranchmen and the Indians over Ute Indian parties killing game and other depredations that now maf lead to serious complications.

OXO BOUILLON CUBES

There are almost countless reasons why Oxo Bouillon cubes are superior to all other bouillon cubes. We selected them as a permanent offering in our grocery after a careful investigation as to the merits of all soup cubes on the market.

We found that the Liebig Company, manufacturers of OXO CUBES, are without an equal in the Extract of Beef business. They originated the business and through nearly half a century have never failed to hold their place of superiority. Their products are today recognized as of the highest quality manufactured. The LIEBIG CO. OXO CUBES are made from absolutely pure extract of beef. No foreign materials enter into their composition.

Why Oxo Cubes are Best

They are absolutely uniform in quality.
They always have the true beef flavor.
They will keep in any climate or temperature.
They do not get soft or deteriorate with time.
They are manufactured according to a scientific formula which has been thoroughly tested.
They are made from cattle raised on the Liebig Co.'s great ranches in the Argentine Republic.
These cattle live wholly in the open air and are free from tubercular troubles; far different conditions obtain among stall fed cattle.

NO DECISION ON CABINET

Wilson Reiterates That he Has Not Consciously Conferred With Any Prospective Candidates.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 18.—President-elect Wilson reiterated tonight that he had made absolutely no decision as to the personnel of his cabinet and added that, thus far, he had not consciously conferred with any prospective candidates.

"I would not do that," he said, "until I had finally made up my mind to pick a man. I haven't consciously consulted with any future cabinet members," and added as an after-thought, "though I might have consulted with some men whom I might choose."

Mr. Wilson again expressed his belief that it was unlikely any of the men whom he selects for his cabinet will decline to accept the port folios offered them. It had been suggested to him that many men were loath to give up their business to enter the cabinet. He said he realized the sacrifice that were sometimes necessary.

"A cabinet position, too," he remarked, "is a very responsible one, where you don't get very much credit for your successes and catch it hard for your failures."

He anticipated little delay, however, he said, in getting acceptance from such men as he might choose for the various port folios, and said that not until he had made up a complete slate would he begin to consult those whom he had picked out.

When Mr. Wilson was informed tonight that people in Washington were taking it for granted that a popular reception would be substituted for the inaugural ball he said he had expected to receive suggestions along that line.

"I assumed," he said, "that something would be substituted. I rather hoped that Mr. Eustis would lay some plan before me.

Mr. Eustis was reported to have mailed his reply today to the governor's letter recommending the elimination of the ball from the inaugural festivities. The governor said he had not yet received it and probably would not until he reached his office in the state house at Trenton Monday.

The governor said he expected busy days next week in the legislature. He will ask state Senator J. Warren Davis to introduce on Monday, the several corporation bills that have been drafted by the governor, Judge Bennett Van Syckel and Chancellor Edwin Walker.

FIND COMBINATION OF PACKERS

Governor Major of Missouri Says There Will Be Little Trouble in Dissolving Combine.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 18.—Daniel Dillon, commission appointed by the supreme court of Missouri, to take evidence in the ouster suit filed by the attorney general to oust the alleged packers' commission from the state, reported to the suprmee court to day that he found the six companies named in he proceedings in an agreement to control prices.

Governor Major who as attorney instituted the suit against the packers tonight made the following statement concerning the report of Commissioner Dillon:

"hTe findings of fact submitted by Mr. Dillon completely sustaain the contention of the state.

"The government failed in its prosecution of the packing interests although it spent more than half a million dollars in the prosecution. Our expense in this case was nominal.

"The law on the subject of combinations in restraint of trade now is well settled, and we have sustained the constitutionalty of our statues in the United States supreme court. Since Mr. Dillon in this case finds the facts in favor of the tate, there will be no trouble in dissolving the combination.

FRANKS CIGAR FACTORY IS TO REMAIN CLOSED

President of Company Sends Letter to Union Stating That Manufacture of Cigars Has Been Discontinued—No Further Facts Made Public.

In a letter to L. P. Hoffman, secretary of local union No. 114, C. M. I. U. of A., A. F. Franks, president of the A. F. Franks Cigar company nnaounced Saturday that his company had decided to discontinue the manufacture of cigars.

This shop has been closed since New Year's day, and although numerous rumors have been in circulation to the effect that the shop would not open, they were not verified until Mr. Hoffman received the following letter from Mr. Franks:

Jacksonville, Ill., Jan. 18, 1913.

L. P. Hoffman,
Sec. of Union 114, C. M. I. U. of A., Jacksonville, Ill.

Dear Sir:

This is to inform you that we have decided to discontinue the manufacturing of cigars. We remain

Yours respectfully,
A. F. Franks Cigar Co.,
per A. F. Franks, Pres.

The following letter was sent by Mr. Franks to G. W. Perkins of Chicago, president of the International Cigar Makers' union.

Mr. G. W. Perkins,
420 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir:

The following is a copy of a letter which we have today addressed to the secretary of the local union which is self explanatory. (Here followed copy of letter sent to Mr. Hoffman.)

Yours very truly,
A. F. Franks Cigar Co.,
By A. F. Franks, Pres.

When Mr. Franks was asked yesterday for some further information on the subject he simply stated that he had nothing to say other than the information contained in the letter addressed to the secretary of the union. As to whatever are the causes leading up to his decision to stop the manufacture of cigars, he would say nothing. Mr. Hoffman, secretary of the local union had no comment to make on the matter. The letter is considered simply as a formal notification that the services of the cigar makers will be no longer required.

The reasons forming the bases for Mr. Franks action are no doubt of a private business character but this fact will not keep the general public from hoping that something may occur to cause a change of policy. The Franks factory is an important business asset of Jacksonville. From ninety to one hundred persons are given employment there and the yearly pay roll is upward of eighty thousand dollars. The permanent closing of the factory means that this large sum will not be paid out in wages here and that a considerable number of the employes must find work in other cities. It is likely that there are some differences between the management and the union which have led up to this action in closing down the factory although there has been no mention of such differences either by Mr. Franks or members of the union. If there be such differences and some person or organization could without intruding upon private affairs take some action which would result in a change in the plan to close the factory permanently, it would be a good deed, well done and for the best interests of Jacksonville.

JURY STILL DELIBERATING

Crowds Wait in Vain For Verdict in DeFraties Murder Case.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—The Sangamon county circuit court was today filled to overflowing with crowds waiting in vain for a verdict of the jury which has deliberated over twenty-four hours on the case of Charles O'Brien, 17 year old boy for the murder of Warren DeFraties.

Judge Creighton ordered the jury locked up for the second night. Springfield has seldom been agitated over a case in court. According to the charges, O'Brien, who was employed with DeFraties in a local meter works, was indignant when DeFraties gave him some undesirable work to do. He procured a revolver, returned to the shop, confronted DeFraties, declared "now I've got you," and killed him.

Temporary insanity was the defense.

FILE BANKRUPTCY PETITION.

Attorneys for Miners Ask Receivership for Blue Mound Company.

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 18.—Attorneys representing 160 miners of the Blue Mound Coal company, Blue Mound, Ill., filed a petition in involuntary bankruptcy to day in Springfield, declaring the corporation has committed acts of nsolvency. As prefrred creditors under the law, the miners are making a fight to secure $13,000 in pay due them. Utter destitution exists and two bank suspensions there ave robbed most of them of savings that might have tided them over. Allegations on which the plantiffs will endeavor to secure federal investigations will be introduced by the attorneys in hearing of the petition.

MUST PRODUCE APPENDIX

Denver, Colo., Jan. 18.—Surgeons operating for appendicitis in this state will have to produce defective appendixes afterward or receive a jail sentence, a fine, or both, in payment, if an amendment to be introduced to the physicians bill becomes effective.

The amendment is a retaliatory measure. The physicians bill practically prohibits any but certified physicians to diagnose or treat ailments. Those excluded by the bill drafted the amendment which imposes a sentence from one to ten years imprisonment or a fine of from $500 to $10,000 for operations on organs afterward proven healthy.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE ALUMNI BANQUET IN NEW YORK CITY

President C. H. Rammelkamp Returns From Meeeting of Former Students—Also Attended Other Notable Gatherings.

President C. H. Rammelkamp of Illinois college has returned from the east, where he went primarily to attend an alumni banquet of Illinois college students at New York City.

At first Dr. Rammelkamp went to Boston, where he attended the sessions of the American Historical association. Here he met ex-President Roosevelt, who is president of the association and who was heard in a brilliant address. Next he went to Princeton, where he had the pleasure of meeting President-elect Woodrow Wilson. He also attended a reception given by the College of the City of New York in honor of Capt. Amundsen, the discoverer of the south pole.

The alumni banqeut was held at the Harvard club on Fourty-fourth street in New York city, Thursday evening, Jan. 16. It was a splendid gathering although there was not so large attendance of alumni as last year.

Dr. Edward A. Ayers, '77, president of the club, acted as toastmaster. Dr. Ayers made the hit of the evening by his clever fictitious letters from Taft, Wilson and Roosevelt expressing their regrets at not being able to attend the banquet.

Prof. Capps, as chairman of the board of directors of the alumni fund, gave a report, showing the progress of the fund. Great interest was manifested by all present in the splendid progress of the fund movement.

"News From the Hill" was the subject of the talk by President Rammelkamp. He told of the recent advancements in the college, of the splendid football team, alumni catalogue, song books and other things connected with college life which were interesting facts to the former students. Others who spoke at the banqeut were T. W. Smith, Ira E. Scott and George Jackson Kneeland.

The following were among those at the banquet: Edward Capps, '87, Princeton; J. D. Hackett, ex '87; Dr. B. C. Darling, '88; Rev. Thomas W. Smith, '87; I. E. Scott, '06; D. C. Catlin, '88; Julius H. Capps, '12; C. M. Owen, ex-1900; G. J. Kneeland, '01; Dr. H. S. Moore, '96, Bethel Conn.; Frederick C. Tanner, '98.

THREATEN FURTHER COMPLICATIONS

Commissioner Cabell Refuses to Submit to Direct or Cross Examination in His Fight Against Judge Boyd.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Further complications are threatened in the fight between United States District Judge Boyd of Greensboro, N. C., and Royal E. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue, in an alleged whisky fraud case in North Carolina, by the commissioner's refusal today to submit to direct or cross-examination before United States Commissioner Hitt, of this city, who was ordered by Judge Boyd to take Mr. Cabell's disposition. The commissioner's attitude was based upon the written directions of Sacretary MacVeagh that he offer the court without question as to its authority, a certified copy of the treasury departments record in the case and decline to answer questions in connection with it. The case is directed against D. C. Foster, a distiller and N. Glenn Williams said to have been the purchaser of 600 barrels of whisky in question, is also being investigated by the house committee on expenditures in the treasury department. The pending issue in court involves an order of Commissioner Cabell that the whisky, now at Williams, N. C., be transferred to a general bonded warehouse at Louisville, Ky. Judge Boyd enjoined the removal and appointed a master to take testimony.

Cadets Will Not Parade.

West Point cadets cannot march down Pennsylvania avenue in the inaugural parade, for President - elect Wilson. A point of order made by Representative Foster of Illinois struck out of the military appropriation bill a clause for subsistence of cadets to the inaugural celebration. Mr. Foster declared he believed the rates of the Washington hotels during the celebration would be too high to justify the government in paying for the cadets subsistence.

Ovation to Cannon.

Democrats and Republicans joined in an ovation to former Speaker Cannon when he spoke in the house today in support of the army appropriation bill and concluded with the declaration that since he "had been given a leave of absence," for which he did not ask, he was going home to live among the people who had honored him by sending him to congress for forty years.

"If perchance I should never again be in public life—and I shall not seek it," Mr. Cannon said, "I purpose to carry out my full duty as one of the sovereigns of this nation—a voter.

"It makes little difference, what we call ourselves, Democrats or Republicans—and those two great organizations are the only parties I recognize. If you Democrats make good, I will be one of the first to shout 'Glory Hallelujah'. The proof of the pudding is the eating thereof."

Replying to attacks on the size of the standing army, the former the speaker said:

"We've got our troubles on the border land—Mexico and so on. God knows we don't want them, and we have either got to abandon the Monroe doctrine and play the happy-go-lucky game or we've got to realize all the obligations the future may bring to us."

Immigration Bill Passes Senate

JOHNSON-PALZER GO IS LATEST GOSSIP

FIGHTERS MAY MEET IN PARIS IF FORMER IS ABLE TO LEAVE U. S.

Packey McFarland—Jack Britton Bout Scheduled for Feb. 7. at Madison Square Garden is Looked Forward to With Great Interest by Gotham Fans.

By Jas. J. Corbett, Former Heavy-Weight Champion of the World

Jack Johnson and Al Palzer are to meet in a finish fight in Paris next June—maybe. It depends on the result of the legal battle the United States authorities are now waging against the colored fighter. If Johnson is lucky enough to escape the bastile the match will take place. To judge from the recent unsuccessful attempt to get out of the country Jack Johnson entertains grave dougt as to the outcome of his case.

he color line is not drawn in Paris. And Palzer is not particular in the matter of color either. In fact, he has long cherished the ambition to fight Johnson and considered McCarty and other white men as mere stepping stones to the chance to box for the title. He was his over-confidence that contributed not a little to defeat in the New Year's Day battle with McCarty.

Tom O'Rourke has not lost faith in Palzer. He still thinks Al will some day be the champion. Tom, had, so 'tis said, practically arranged for the Johnson bout before McCarty clashed with Palzer, but Luther refused to box Johnson or any other negro.

It is doubtful if the match ever progresses beyond the signing of articles. Johnson is likely to have other matters to attend to in June. The Federal courts will have the final day as to that. If the bout does go through Palzer will be a very lucky young fellow. It will give him the chance of his lfetitme and one that seldom comes to to a defeated fighter And should he by any chance prove the winner Palzer would be the world's champion, and a poular idol, and in a position to 'ictate terms to McCarty, his erstwhile conqueror. Truly that would be a peculiar tsate of affairs.

Rumor has it that Luther McCarty is going to fight again on March 17. There is also talk of Luther and Jess Willard coming together in New York City before long. Although McCarty and his manager insist that they will not consider a proposition calling for a match before next July, it is known that the Garden and Empire clubs of this city are angling for the "white champion" and the financial bait is said to be very attractive.

It may be Luther has no intention of deserting the ring for the footlights for any length of time, and that the talk of not fighting again until the Fourth is a scheme to get the promoters to raise their bids. McCarty and Manager McCarney will do well to ponder over what happened to Palzer during his six months vacation. Palzer was a bear cat last spring. He was a very tame feline on New Years' Day.

McCarty will never become popular in the big league until he consents to box Willard again. Experts who were present when the boys met last summr concede Jess an excellent chance to beat Luther, while admitting the latter must have improved wonderfully to trim Kaufman, Flynn and Palzer. They were both very green in the garden bout, but there was no question of Willard's superiority. He outboxed and outfought McCarty from beginning to end. It would seem to me that Luther would be anxious to wipe this stain of defeat from his escutcheon, but it may be he entertains too great a respect for the great strength and hitting powers of the gigantic Texan.

However, Willard need not despair. There is Al Palzer ready and willing to fight anybody at the drop of a hat. If nothing else can be said in his favor, Palzer can never be charged with cowardice. He fears no man and would much rather fight than train. A match with Willard would be most welcome. It is part of O'Rourke's plan to fight Palzer as often as possible and Willard would be given preference over any of the other heavies. Palzer is now rounding into shape and would give Willard a great fight. It would be a better test of Jess' skill than the proposed match with Gunboat Smith.

There is no doubt that Willard is splendid pugilistic timber and if he can "put it on" Palzer, he could force McCarty to recognize his challenge. When Jss boxed Soldier Kearns a few weeks ago he showed marked improvement over the form displayed against McCarty. Particularly was this observed of his hitting. He wasted little strength in wild swings and appeared to have mastered the art of punching straight from the shoulder, something both he and McCarty were totally ignorant of last summer. Altogether Willard impressed local fans more favorably than any other "hope" seen in New York.

New York is getting so few good matches these days that the sports are rooting hard that nothing will happen to "crab" the Packey McFarland-Jack Britton bout scheduled for Feb. 7 at Madison Square garden. It would be a hard blow to the fans if this match were called off. There is considerable ill-feling between the boys for that reason the "faithful" anticipate a thoroughly enjoyable evening. Jack has accused Packey of trying to avoid the meeting, and Mac retaliates by threatening dire things to his fellow Chicagoan when they get in the ring.

The bout should prove intensely interesting. They are beyond question the cleverest pair in or near the light-weight division, barring possibly the champion, Willie Ritchie. While Packey will naturally be the favorite in whatever betting is done on the mill, Britton will not lack for followers. Jack has established himself a warm favorite with New Yorkers by his consistent performances against all-comers. While the calibre of his adversaries in local bouts has not been of the highest he has shown by the easy manenr in which he has outpointed them that he is capable of greater things. He carries a wallop with his cleverness and is about the best man that could be selected to make the speedy McFarland step his fastest.

It was a lucky thing for Leach Cross that he was not asked to step another round with Joe Rivers the other night. When the bout ended Cross was exhausted and had all he could manage to stay on his pins. While he put up one of the best battles of his career and made a brave resistance at all times, the agressiveness and hitting power of the youngster from Los Angeles gradually wore him down until it was a question with the spectators whether he would stick the last round.

Rivers made good on everything that has been said about him with one exception. He is not much of a boxer. Jose is strictly a fighter something on the Wolgast lines, and while Cross' strength lasted he had not much difficulty in outpointing the visitor, although in a twenty round bout Rivers would be a hot favorite.

It must be said for Rivers that he was severely handicapped by the local rules compelling the men to break from clinches before any damage can be done. Joe learned fighting in the west where a boy must protect himself all the time. Had he thought of a possible infraction of the rules not made him cautious it is doubtful if Cross would have lasted the route.

While Rivers made a great rally in the last round, it was Cross who piled up the points earlier in the fight. If a referee were to award a decision the only fair thing to do would be to call it a draw. In a limited round match with both men on their feet at the finish the referee must base his verdict on points scored by the contestants, the number of blows landed, the leads and counters, footwork, etc., etc., and in those respects the bout was fairly even.

James J. Corbett.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

Frank Mann, the soil expert who is known to many Illinois farmers as a farmer who operates his large farm as nearly perfect as possible, at a recent Farmers' institute attacked the methods of the so-called fertilizer trust. He said that the trust recommends fertilizers not calcuated to build up the soil of Illinois.

Attacking the methods of the fertilizer trust, Frank Mann, of Gilman, caused somewhat of a stir at the Farmers' Institute. Mann, who is referred to in institute circles as the owner of 500 acres of the best farmed land in Illinois, attacks the trust because it recommends fertilizers not calculated to build up Illinois soils permanently.

"The fertilizer trust is using all the energy they can command, to commit Illinois to the use of mixed fertilizers," said he, and then explained further. Fertilizers are recommended that perhaps contain enough fertility to grow one bushel, and also stimulate the soil to produce six more, at the same time not adding anything for the future.

"I promise you," said he, "to do all I can to head off their progress, before the reaction comes."

Mann recommends the use of lime even in soils where the formation is lime below, because even the lighter soils become acid.

Mr. Mann remarked that there had been a 72 per cent increase in the cost of food products and an increase of 4 1-2 per cent of tillable land in ten years. The times are ideal for all, there is work ahead. He did not think Argentine would be much of a factor in production, because it is equal only to the states of Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas.

Some Points to Remember.

His speech, as he passed along, left some things to remember. For instance: Only 4 per cent of the grain fed to beef cattle is saved as food on the hoof.

Dr. Wiley says we are paying twenty-five times the cost of the grains in the shape of breakfast foods.

Whoever heard of a corporation with other than a selfish interest If they are helping to grow better crops it is with the hope of getting something out of it.

When the soils that fed Rome went down, the roads remained, but the culture left.

We have worked our land down to a 50-bushel per acre capacity, and must build it up again.

Previous to ten years ago, there was no scientific agriculture. He declared that he would not keep a hoof on his farm to keep up the fertility of the soil.

His formula: Supply nitrogen to the soil, also apply limestone, sow clover, use phosphorus and feed the growing crop.

Use rock phosphate containing 12 to 13 per cent phosphorus, ground fine as flour.

The above are only a few of the points talked upon. He has used 1,000 tons of phosphorus in eight years and figures it has cost him $7 an acre to apply. By spending $1.50 per acre for this kind of fertilizer, the returns are 700 per cent. He will use five tons per acre on his entire farm.

How to Prevent the Washing of Hillsides.

By Professor J. G. Foster.

About one-fifth of the state of Illinois is of such character that damage by washing may take place if very efficient means are not taken to prevent it. "Gullying" is the form of eroism that results in complete ruin in a comparatively short time, while "sheet washing" although slower, probably does the largest amount of damage to soils. Farmers are constantly on the lookout for gullies usually take some means to prevent their deepening but almost nothing is done to prevent or even diminish sheet washing. Steep slopes should not be cultivated or at least only rarely and then for but one season.

Sheet washing on the moderate slopes may be prevented to a great extent by the following methods.

1. By increasing the organic matter contentfi thus renedering the soil more porous and binding the soil particles together. This can be done by adding farm manure, plowing under stubble, straw, cornstalks and legume crops, such as clover and cowpeas.

2. By deep plowing to increase the absorption of water and diminish the run-off. Ten inches of loose soil will readily absorb two inches of rainfall without run-off. Plowing should be done seven to ten inches deep.

3. By contour plowing. Plowing in this state is often done up and down the hill side, producing dead furrows that furnish excellent beginnings for gullies. Even the little depressions between furrows will aid washing. On land subject to serious washing, plowing should always be done across the slope on the contour, so that water will stand in the furrow without running in either direction. Every furrow will act as an obstruction to the movement of water down the slope, thus diminishing the velocity of the water, facilating absorption, and the power of the water to do washing.

4. By the use of cover crops to hold the soil during the winter and spring. Rye is a fairly good cover crop to sow in the corn during the late summer or early fall. Wheat especially when seeded late, is a poor cron to grow on rolling land, because it does not usually make sufficient growth to afford a good protection to the soil during the winter. Of ecurse, both rye and wheat invite the development of chinch bugs. A mixture of winter vetch, and clover with a few cowpeas, seeded at the time of the last cultivation of the corn, gives results in favorable seasons.

BUSINESS MEN WILL MEET TO CONSIDER CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

Will Hold Session at Court House Monday Night—Every Member Should be Present to Express Views.

A meeting of all the members who have joined the business men's organization will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the court house. This meeting has been called for the purpose of considering the report submitted by the committee on constitution and by-laws.

The proposed plan provides that the association shall consist of seven distinct departments. The activities of each being directed by an executive committee. This will enable the officers to enlist as many of the members to take more than a passing interest in the affairs of the organization. The busiest business men are generally the hardest workers for the good of their city and every member must be willing to give some form of service. The organization could not possibly be constructed on a broader basis and should interest itself in practically every kind of municipal activity. Every member has been given a good opportunity to study the new by-laws and if they embody any objectional features which do not meet with your approval it is your duty to voice your sentiments at the meeting.

The adoption of satisfactory constitution and by-laws is a most important step in the re-organization of the old business men's association as it provides the necessary machinery for all the work which is to follow. One of the most radical departures from the old by-laws is the proposed election of the president and the directors at the annual meeting instead of voting by mail. This scheme should prove satisfactory if the members show the proper enthusiasm and turn out at the annual meeting. The organization is bound to take on new life and stimulate more city spirit if each member does his part.

Officers will be elected on the second Tuesday evening in February if the membership adopts the by-laws drawn up by the committee on Monday night.

ADMINSTRATION BOARD GIVES INSTITUTION ESTIMATES

Frank D. Whipp as Fiscal Supervisors Prepares Figures—14,000 inmates in State Institutions.

The report of Frank D. Whipp, fiscal supervisor of the board of administration, made to the board, regarding requests for appropriations for the eighteen state charitable institutions under the control of the board, which will be required during the next biennial period, show some interesting statistics. In making his estimate of population of the hospitals for the insane for the biennial period he has taken as a basis, the increase in the admissions over discharges and deaths during the years 1911 and 1912. The increase for 1911 was 491; for 1912, 393, or an average increase for each year of 442. The movement of population for the two years was as follows:

New admissions ...	3207	3443
Readmitted	606	608
...	3813	4051
Discharged from institutions	425	652
Discharged on parole	1548	1673
Died	1349	1333
Total	3322	3658

Mr. Whipp's report shows the estimated population of the eight state hospitals for the insane on the first of this year at 14,000 and of all eighteen state institutions with 19,000; total employees, 3,000 and in making requests for appropriations he has estimated the increase in insane alone, for the next biennial period of a 3 per cent increase per annum. This increase for the first year and a half up to June 30, 1914 is 624. For the year ending June 30, 1915, 431, or a total increase to the end of the biennial period of 1,055.

Comparison of increase of insane population of adjacent states, notably Wisconsin, 3 per cent; Minnesota 3.2 per cent; shows his estimate is an average normal increase in this locality. The proportion or ratio of insane to population shows little variations Illinoi: 1 to 355; Wisconsin 1 to 357; Indiana 1 to 456; also ratio insane committed per 100,000 population, according to United States census 1910, most densely populated states of east north central group, shows very little variation. Ohio 73.2; Indiana 53; Illinois 81.7; Michigan 57.6; Wisconsin 95.

A summary of requests for appropriations for the biennial period made by the managing officers of institutions and recommendations made by the fiscal supervisor and supervising engineer follows:

	Asked by Managing officers	Rec. by Fiscal sup'r	Rec. by Sup. Eng.
Ordinary operating expenses	$ 7,721,235.00	$7,013,363.42	$
Psychopathic institute	3 4,600.00	34,600.00
Ordinary repairs and improvements	82 3,656.00	713,900.00
Ordinary care and improvements on grounds..	7 5,000.00	59,400.00
Ordinary repairs and improvements factory.....	3,000.00	3,000.00
New Buildings and additions	2,18 1,300.00	1,518,500.00
Steam heating, light, water, power and refrigerating plants	520,128.00	26,200.00	727,600.00
Miscellaneous	33 3,445.52	256,405.47
Total	$11,692,364.53	$9,625,368.89	727,600.00

Of the requests made by the managing officers $1,131,400.00 is for the ordinary operating expenses of the Chicago State hospital, at Dunning, formerly the Cook county institution for the insane. There is also asked for this institution $110,000.00 for ordinary repairs and improvements; $10,000 for ordinary care and improvement of grounds and $1,002,216.26 for extraordinary improvements, which the managing officers considers necessary to build new buildings and rehabilitate the other buildings to bring them up to the standard of the other state institutions. This accounts for the increased appropriations asked for over those made by the last general assembly.

The law requires that the fiscal supervisor's report shall be submitted to the board of administration and by it transmitted to the governor for approval. After such approval is obtained, bills are introduced into the general assembly covering such appropriations.

BESSEMER DID MUCH FOR MANKIND.

London, Jan. 18.—It will be one hundred years tomorrow since there was born in a little village in Hertfordshire a man whose life, according to the opinions expressed by the newspapers at the time of his death fifteen years ago, had been more useful to humanity than that of any other person. The man was Sir Henry Bessemer, who will be known forever as the inventor of the process for converting cast iron into steel without the use of fuel.

Bessemer did for the steel industry what Newton did for astronomy and what Darwin did for natural science. The revolution in that industry following upon Bessemer's discovery was as great as the revolution in industry at large following upon the discovery of applied steam power.

Before the Bessemer process came into vogue the production of steel in Great Britain was only 50,000 tons annually, and the average price was $250 a ton. In 1911 the production in the United Kingdom reached 6,500,000 tons. In the same year the United States produced nearly 25,000,000 tons. The saving to the world by cheapening of steel is estimated at $250,000,000 a year—equal to more than one-half the world's entire output of gold for the same period.

KING'S SON OFF FOR HIS FIRST CRUISE

Is Popular With the Masses and May Some Day Sit on English Throne.

London, Jan. 18.—Interesting memories are recalled to the older generation by the announcement today of the departure of Prince Albert, the king's second son, on his first sea cruise as a cadet in the royal navy. It is now almost thirty-five years since King George, who at that time was a second son, as is Prince Albert now, departed from these shores on his well-known three years' voyage around the globe. He accompanied his elder brother, the late Duke of Clarence, who was then the heir presumptive to the throne. The two princes were rated as midshipmen on the Bacchante, commanded by Admiral Earl of Clanwilliam. Under these auspices the Duke of Clarence and Prince George saw for the first time the West Indies, South America, Australia, Japan, China and other parts of the world.

Prince Albert, also a "sailor prince" like his father, is often in the public eye and thought because, like his father in another respect, he may come to the throne through outliving the heir apparent. It is no reflection on the Prince of Wales, heir to the throne, to say that his younger brother appears more popular with the masses than he. The fact of the matter is that he is better known. As the future king, the youthful Prince of Wales, especially during the past few years, has been hampered by restraining influences which naturally have been less severe in the case of Prince Albert. The latter has been allowed "more rope," and in consequence he has developed into a hearty, wholesome youth, full of life and imbued with a love for all outdoor sports and recreations. Many of his pranks have been recorded in print and in not a few of them his elder brother appears to have been the victim.

Prince Albert has just entered upon his 18th year. He entered the Royal Naval college four years ago and proved an enthusiastic and diligent student. Two years were spent at Osborne, where he went through the initial stages of engineering, with workshop practice, seamanship, navigation, and the usual curriculum of the public school. He fared in exactly the same way as other cadets, with the same hours of study, the same food and accommodation, and, like the other boys, with one shilling as pocket money and no tuck shop account allowed.

Two years ago, with the Prince of Wales, Prince Albert was shifted from Osborne to the splendid new Dartmouth college to complete his naval studies. At Dartmouth he has been under the same strict discipline as the other cadets. From the turn out at ten minutes to 7 o'clock in the evening the cadets are under constant supervision and are for the most part kept fully occupied either in study or exercise.

The work at Dartmouth college is thorough and serious, the engineering shops providing, without doubt, the centre of attraction. Here Prince Albert has learned to handle properly the whirling machinery and fashion a polished spindle or make a joint which will resist a steam pressure of three hundred pounds to the square inch. In the school room he finished his theoretical subjects.

Now, aboard the armoured cruiser Cumberland on which he and the other cadets embarked today, the prince will learn the practical side of navigation, seamanship and steam engineering. His is said to inherit his father's love for the sea and his natural aptitude for everything pertaining to seamanship. He is undoubtedly a better sailor than his elder brother. Several years ago at Cowes, the story is told, the Prince of Wales made some criticism on the maneuvering of a yacht and was at once corrected by his younger brother in an audible and highly pointed remark concerning "duffers."

FOUGHT 100 YEARS AGO.

Monroe, Mich., Jan. 18.—One hundred years ago today this place, then called Frenchtown, was the scene of a bloody conflict between the Americans on one side and a force of British and Indians on the other. The own was in possession of the British and was captured by the Americans under Gen. Winchester. Four days later, however, the place was retaken by the British under General Proctor, and General Winchester and his force were captured. The second conflict was followed by an Indian slaughter that is known in history as the River Rasin massacre.

Remarkable Catarrh Cure

Gets Right into the Affected Parts and Stops Gathering in Eyes, Noes, Throat and Lungs.

By a long series of elaborate experiments at the Swift Laboratory it is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antidotal remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation in less than an hour.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infests the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 per bottle. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils and all scrofulous conditions. For special advice on any blood disease write in confidence to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. at your druggists.

PROPOSED CONTRACT FOR RIVER WATER

PROVISIONS OF AGREEMENT PEOPLE ARE ASKED TO RATIFY.

Special Election Will Be Held Tuesday, February 4th—If Contract is Approved the Jacksonville Water Company is to Furnish Water For Eighteen Months and Take Half of Gross Receipts as Pay.

A special election has been called by the city commissioners for Tuesday, Feb. 4th when the people will be given a chance to express their views on the acceptance of the contract made between the council and the water company subject to ratification by the people. The provisions of the contract are clear and simple and it seems to be a case where the public has a chance for a good water supply and has no possible chance of any loss. The contract has been published before but is given here again in order that the people may familiarize themselves with all the provisions. The contract follows:

The proposed contract is as follows:

This contract and agreement made by and between the City of Jacksonville, Illinois, of the one part and The Jacksonville Water Company, a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, as successor to and asignee of The Jacksonville Water Works Company, of the other part.

Witnesseth: Whereas, on the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1904, the City Council of the City of Jacksonville, Illinois, passed an ordinance of said city, granting a franchise to Charles W. Mackey and Omar N. Gardner, and their assigns to furnish and supply water to the said city and its inhabtants, as in said ordinance is specified, and

Whereas, the said Charles W. Mackey and Ormar N. Gardner assigned said franchise so granted to them in and by said ordinance to The Jacksonville Water Works Company; and

Whereas, The Jacksonville Water Works company proceeded with the work of constructing a water plant for the purpose of supplying water to the said city and its inhabitants, pursuant to the said franchise ordinance, and

Whereas, the City Council of the City of Jacksonville, from time to time, passed ordinances extending to the Jacksonville Water Works Company further time to enable it to complete its water plant and demonstrate its ability and capacity to supply to the said City of Jacksonville and its inhabtants water of the quality and in the quantity specified in said original franchise ordinance, and the several ordinances supplemental thereto, and

Whereas, in the year 1909, The Jacksonville Water Works Company made the claim that it had complied with the original franchise ordinance, and the several ordinances supplementary thereto, and claimed that the city plant should be turned over to it; and

Whereas the City Council of said city claimed that The Jacksonville Water Works Company had not complied with said ordinances, and refused to turn over to it the said city plant; and

Whereas, The Jacksonville Water Works company commenced suit against the said City of Jacksonville in the circuit court of the County of Morgan, in the State of Illinois, to the May term, A. D. 1910, of said Court, for the purpose of compelling the City of Jacksonville to turn over to the said The Jacksonville Water Works company said water plant, as provided for in said ordinances; and

Whereas on the 5th day of December, A. D. 1912, The Jacksonville Water Works Company, by deed, conveyed all its property and rights of every kind to The Jacksonville Water Company, and the said Jacksonville Water Company, by leave of court filed in the aforesaid suit its supplemental bill, claiming a right to prosecute said suit, as assignee of said The Jacksonville Water Works Company, and

Whereas, said suit is stll pending, and undetermined in said court, and

Whereas, it is the wish and desire of the said city and of the Jacksonville Water Company, as assignee of and successor to The Jacksonville Water Works Company, to amicably adjust and settle all matters in controversy, and in litigaiton in said suit and to terminate said suit and litigation:

Now, Therefore, in consideration of the premises, it is agreed by and between the said parties hereto as follows:

First

The said city of Jacksonville agrees to take and receive of and from the Jacksonville Water company all the water the city may use for city purposes and furnish to consumers of water with the said city of Jacksonville as hereinafter specified from the first day of June A. D. 1913, until the first day of December, A. D. 1914, excepting only such water as the city may be compelled temporarily to pump from its own plants as hereinafter specified.

Second.

The Jacksonville Water Company agrees to furnish and supply to the said city in its dstributing reservoir, as now located, and into the standpipe of the said Jacksonville Water Company as now located, and into such city standpipes as may hereafter be constructed all the water said city and its inhabitants may need all purposes for which water may needed by the city and the inhabitants thereof. And further agrees that all such water shall be furnished from the wells and pumping station situated near Bluffs on the Illinois river bottom, and that such water shall be at all times clean, pure and wholesome, and suitable for all domestic and manufacturing purposes.

Third.

The Jacksonville Water company agrees that it will furnish and install a water meter that will at all times accurately measure and record the quantity of water furnished to the city. That it will install such meter within the grounds of the distributing reservoir of said city, and will keep such meter in good repair at all times. That it will provide a safe and proper enclosure for said water meter and will provide such enclosure with two locks so arranged that the enclosure cannot be opened, or the meter manipulated uunless both are unlocked. And the keys of one of such locks shall be delivered to and shall at all times be in possession of the said city. And the Jacksonville Water company agrees that a representative of the city shall be present whenever said meter is inspected, read or repaired.

Fourth.

The Jacksonville Water company agrees that it will at all times keep the said distributing reservoir and the stand pipe of the said water company and such city stand pipes as many hereafter be constructed sufficiently filled with water to give pressure to the city for ordinary use and will keep the stand pipe belonging to the said water company in good repair at all times.

Fifth.

The said city of Jacksonville agrees that it will furnish and sell water to consumers only by meter and will keep an accurate account of all water furnished and sold to consumers and will keep its meter readings and books pertaining thereto open to the inspection of the representatives of said water company at all times. That the said city will, during the period covered by this contract, sell and furnish water to consumers at the rates now provided by the ordinance of the city of Jacksonville, and will not change the rates so fixed without the consent of the Jacksonville Water company. The said city of Jacksonville further agrees that it will collect from water consumers monthly, as it is now the custom to do, and pay over to the Jacksonville Water company the one-half part of the gross receipts for all water so sold and furnished to consumers as above specified, such payments to be made on or before the first day of the second succeeding month. It being expressly understood and agreed that the city is to pay nothing for water used by the city for city purposes from its street and fire hydrants and for other city purposes proper, but is only to pay for the water actually sold to consumers by meter.

And the Jacksonville Water company agrees that it will keep accurate books of account, showing the quantity of water sold by the Jacksonville Water company to consumers other than the city of Jacksonville, such as Bluffs, Chapin, South Jacksonville and the inhabitants thereof, railroads and all other consumers to whom the said water company shall at any time during the existence of this contract sell water and the price or prices paid therefor, and will keep its said books of account at all times open to the inspection of the representatives of the city of Jacksonville.

The said Jacksonville Water company further agrees that it will pay over to the city of Jacksonville the one-half part of the gross receipts of all water so sold to consumers other than the city of Jacksonville, and that it will make such payments monthly on or before the first day of the second succeeding month, it being the intention and agreement that the said city of Jacksonville and said Jacksonville Water company shall each recieve the equal one-half part of the gross receipts of all water sold to consumers by the city of Jacksonville within the city of Jacksonville ,and by the Jacksonville Water company to all consumers outside of the city of Jacksonville.

Sixth.

The said Jacksonville Water company further agrees that it will commence pumping and supplying water to the said city in its said distributing reservoir and the stand pipe of said company, pursuant to the terms of this contract, on the first day of June, A. D. 1913, and that on its failure so to commence, this contract and the obligations thereof shall thereupon cease and determine.

Seventh.

It is mutually agreed between the said parties to this contract that the said Jacksonville Water company shall furnish and supply water to the city, as above provided, and said city of Jacksonville shall receive water so furnished by the said Jacksonville Water company for the period of eighteen months from the first day of June, A. D., 1913, to the first day of December, A. D., 1914, and that the obligations, agreement and the liabilities of the parties under this contract shall cease and terminate on the first day of December, A. D., 1914.

Eighth.

The said Jacksonville Water company further agrees that in the event that at any time during the effective existence of this contract, the said Jacksonville Water company shall temporarily and for a day or two only be unable to supply the said city with water from the said wells of the said company on account of break or breaks of machinery or pipe line, then during such temporary inability of said company, the said city of Jacksonville may pump water from the plant of the city into the reservoir and mains of the said city for the use of the city and its water consumers, and the said city shall reimburse itself for all expenses incurred in so doing by retaining such expenses out of any money owing to the said water company.

Ninth.

The said Jacksonville Water company further agrees that in the event that at any time during the period of the existence of this contract, the Jacksonville Water company shall fail or neglect to supply the said city with water, as provided herein, for fifteen consecutive days, then the city council of the city of Jacksonville shall thereupon have the right to and may by resolution duly passed and entered upon the records of the proceedings of the city council of the said city, declare this contract shall thence forth be null and void; and the passage of such resolution by said city council shall ipso facto be notice to the said Jacksonville Water company of the termination of this contract and shall be binding upon the said company.

Tenth.

The said Jacksonville Water company, as assignee of and successor to the Jacksonville Water Works company, hereby waives, releases and relinquishes to said city all right, title and interest that it has or claims to have to the franchise granted to Charles W. Mackey and Omar N. Gardner by the ordinance mentioned in the preamble of this contract; and also waives, releases and relinquishes all the privileges, rights and interests of every kind and nature that said Jacksonville Water company, as such successor to the Jacksonville Water Works company, has or claims to have by, through and under the franchise ordinance passed September 23, A. D. 1904, and the ordinances supplementary thereto, mentioned in the preamble to this contract; and hereby agrees that it accepts this contract, when ratified by the electorate of said city, in full settlement of all claims and rights of action now being litigated in the suit pending in the circuit court of the county of Morgan and state of Illinois, entitled the Jacksonville Water Works company vs. the City of Jacksonville in which suit the Jacksonville Water company, on December 7, A. D. 1912, filed its bill entitled a supplemental bill in the nature of an original bill; and in full settlement of said suit, both as to the original bill and the said supplemental bill. And said company agrees that as soon as may be, after the ratification of this contract, as herein provided, it will dismiss the said suit and proceedings.

Eleventh.

It is further mutually agreed by and between the parties hereto that this contract shall not become effective unless and until the same is ratified by a majority of the legal voters voting upon the question, at a special election to be called for the purpose of submitting the question of the ratification of this contract to the electorate of the said city of Jacksonville. And if a majority of the legal votes cast upon that question at such special election shall be in the affirmative then this contract shall be in full force and effect; and in case a majority of the votes so cast shall be in the negative, then this contract shall be null and void, and shall not affect the rights, interests or legal liabilities of the respective parties in any manner.

Twelfth.

It is further agreed that the city council of said city will, as promptly as may be, call a special election at which election there shall be submitted to the legal voters of said city the question:

"Shall the contract of the date of .....entered into by the city of Jacksonville, Illinois, with the Jacksonville Water company providing for the purchase of water by the said city from the said Jacksonville Water company, be ratified?"

In testimony whereof the city of Jacksonville, by its city council, has caused this contract to be signed by its mayor, and attested by its city clerk, and its corporation seal to be hereto affixed; and the Jacksonville Water company, by its board of directors, has caused this contract to be signed by its president, and attested by its secretary, and its corporate seal to be hereto affixed, the day and year first above written (in duplicate).

Drunkenness Is a Disease and We Can Cure It

It was at Dwight, Illinois, that Dr. Leslie E. Keeley made his famous declaration: "Drunkenness is a disease, and I can cure it." It startled the world, and aroused the incredulity of millions. BUT IT WAS TRUE! And it brought new hope and new life to thousands of despairing souls and suffering homes.

400,000 Men Saved From Drink Disease

Since that memorable day—thirty-two years ago—400,000 men have won the victory over liquor through the Keeley treatment.

And thousands more are daily breaking their chains and "getting a fresh, clean start."

Dr. Keeley proved, conclusively, that drunkenness is a disease caused by constant use of alcohol, wherein "the nerve cells have become so accustomed to performing their duties and functions under the influence of alcohol that they are dependent on it and will no longer perform those duties and functions properly and painlessly except when under its influence."

We also cure Opium, Morphine and other drug addictions. The drug is withdrawn gradually and there is no shock, collapse, prostration or sickness. Full particulars in plain, sealed envelope on request.

Result of "The Keeley Cure"

The effect of the Keeley remedies is to absolutely destroy the craving and appetite for drink. The man who takes the Keeley treatment is no longer called on to fight an appetite. The desire and necessity for alcohol is gone.

And the cure lasts! Hear what men say who have been saved:

"This is the twentieth anniversary of my reincarnation and release from the bondage of the Demon Rum. Completely cured—the occursed appetite never to return."

"I took the cure twelve years ago—Drink is no longer any temptation to me."

"This is the eighteenth anniversary of my graduation at Dwight. No matter what rises I never think of whiskey."

"Words cannot express what I feel in my soul for the God-given saving institute at Dwight, Ill. I haven't the least desire for drink any more than if I had never tasted it."

We have many, many thousands of letters like the above.

The Famous "Keeley Cure"

The Keeley treatment—known the world around as "The Keeley Cure"—is simply the application of reconstructive nerve tonics which restore the nerve cells to their normal, natural condition.

The treatment produces no sickness or nausea. It demands no restriction or confinement of patients. It has absolutely no ill effects.

Home Remedies are prepared and sold by us for the cure of the Tobacco Habit and many forms of nervous troubles. Send for printed matter today.

We have a Chicago office, Suite 906 Rector Building, 79 W. Monroe Street, where arrangements may be made.

WANT HOME RULE IN UTILITY MATTERS

COMMISSIONERS OF CITIES OBJECT TO CURTAILING AUTHORITY.

Think Proposed Law For a Utilities Commission Should Provide That Members Should Mix in Local Affairs Only By Invitation—Jacksonville City Attorney is On Legislative Committee.

The legislative committee appointed at the recent convention of the officers of cities under the commission form of government includes City Attorney Hairgrove of this city, City Attorney Stevens of Springfield and Rector Hitt of Ottawa. The members of this committee spent much of the past week in Springfield and will spend several days there this week working for certain provisions in the bill which will be considered by the legislature providing regulation of public utilities by a state commission.

The committee referred to acting under instructions from the convention of commissioners is seeking especially for "home rule" in all utility matters. The commissioners are not opposed to the proposed law but they are opposed to any provisions granting to any state board, commission or officer the power to interfere with, regulate or control the operation, rates or services of any local utility except by invitation of the local authorities.

The general work which the committee is trying to bring to pass in connection with proposed legislation is outlined clearly in the resolution adopted in the recent meeting of the officers of cities under the commission form which was as follows. Mayor Davis at the recent convention took a leading part in the discussion which resulted in this resolution:

The Resolution.

"Whereas, There exists a lack of adequate provision for the regulation and control of the services and rates of the various public utilities operating within this state, which will, in all probability, be met by the enactment, at the next general assembly, of a statute providing means therefor; and,

"Whereas, It is our belief that such legislation should be designed to empower and assist the cities of this state in the proper regulation of their local public utilities, rather than to place arbitrary power over local city affairs in the hands of a state commission; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that each city of the state should have and exercise full power of reasonable regulation of rates and character of services of its purely local utilities; and be it further

"Resolved, That the powers of a state public utility commission should not extend to the control of public utilities local to cities, but should be confined to those operating generally throughout the state, together with the power to establish for both these classes of utilities a uniform system of accounting requiring annual reports giving in proper detail all necessary data; power to control the issuance of securities in such manner as not to validate former issues not approved by the commission, all of which information should be matters of public record; and, be it further

"Resolved, That the said commission should be required, when so requested by any city, to assume control over any local public utility operating in such city for the purpose of the proper regulation thereof to continue at the option of such city and to furnish to any city upon request all information concerning any local utility of such city necessary to the making by such city of proper regulations as to rates and services of such utility; and be it further

"Resolved, That we are unalterably opposed to the granting by the legislature to any state board, commission or officer the power to interfere with, regulate or control the operation, rates or services of any local utility except by invitation of the local authorities."

A draft of the bill for an act entitled "An act to provide for the regulation of public utilities" is as follows:

The following draft of bill contemplates the exercise by a State Commission of full power over all public utilities within the State to compel uniform accounting and to control the issuance of evidences of debt not maturing within twelve months from date of issue.

For the purpose of regulating rates and quality and adequacy of service a distinction is made between public utility services rendered throughout large territories and in which, all or a large number, of the people of the state have a common interest, and those public untility services rendered in a particular city only which are therefore of peculiar interest to the people of that city alone, the control of the former being placed in the State Commission, while the regulation of rates, quality and adequacy of the latter is granted to the cities.

To assist the cities in carrying out this grant of power, provision is made whereby they may require that the commission ascertain and furnish information or data relating to such services necessary or useful for that purpose, to be used by them in lieu of, or in connection with, information or data obtained by themselves. Additional provision is also made whereby a city may, at its option, transfer for stated periods the regulation of one or more of its local utility services to the state commission.

Organization of Commission.

Article I. Provides for the creation of a State Commission, the number of commissioners, their appointment, term of office and removal; confers upon them the right to appoint and employ counsel, a secretary and other employees and procure necessary supplies and appartus; fixes salaries and fees and provides for the expenses of the commission; prescribes rules of practice and procedure in matters before the commission, the making and enforcing of its orders and their review by the courts, and secures publicity through annual reports, public inspection of records, and the right to obtain certified copies thereof.

Article II. Provides for the classification of public utilities, requires the establishment by the commission of a uniform system of accounts for each class and specifies certain items to be shown therein; requires public utilities to conform to such system and to render reports conforming thereto; allows the examination, inspection and audit of accounts, books, papers, etc., of utilities by the commission, its officers or employes, and requires the filing with the commission by each utility of the address of its office, where such accounts, books, papers, etc., are kept.

Article III. Declares the issuance of securities by public untilities to be a special privilege and reserves to the state the supervision and regulation therof to be exercised by the commission; requires the identification of securities hereafter issued by utilities and prohibits issuing the same except when due with in one year from the date of issue without the approval of the commission, and provides that such approval shall not effect issues made prior to the taking effect of this act; allows the disposition of evidences of debt of public utilties and the applicaion of the proceeds thereto to be made only with the consent of the commission; requires an account to the commission of the disposition of such proceeds; prohibits capitalization of consolidations, franchises, licenses, permits and the right to be a corporation and specifies the purposes for which evidences of debt due more than one year after date thereof, may be issued.

Gives Local Authority.

Article IV. Grants to the commission power, within the limits imposed by the rights granted cities by Article V, to prescribe rates, fares, charges, tolls, classifications, services instrumentalities, equipment, facilities, rules, regulations and rentals as to all public utilities, and to alter same; to prescribe the form and require the filing and exhibtion of schedules; establish through routes and fix joint rates; to regulate the division of joint rates, charges and expenses; to require and regulate the transfer of freight and passengers from one connecting line to another; to require connections between railroads, street railroads, telephone and telegraph companies; to allow the use on proper occasions and upon proper terms by one utility of the facilities of another; to order the building of side-tracks and spurs; to investigate accidents occuring in the operation of utilities and make orders for changes to prevent same; to require safe guards for the protection of employees, passengers, customers and the public; to prescribe the manner of crossing highways and street railways by railroads; to prohibit passes, preferences and discriminations and prevent changes in rates by utilities without consent; The articles further provides methods for enforcing its povisions and penalties for their violation.

Article V. Grants to cities power to establish rates for, and regulations as to quality and adequacy of service of gas, electricity, light, heat, power, water, street car service and telephone service furnished within the city limits with the right to inspect the books, accounts, papers, records, memoranda and physical property of a public untility furnishing the same; allows cities to apply to the commission for information necessary or useful in so doing; requires the commission to furnish same within a raesonable time and confers on the commission full power to ascertain same; allows cities to transfer to the state commission by ordinance adopted by vote above control ove one or more of said products or services such power to be exercised by the commission for a period of not less than—years and until like adoption of an ordinance withdrawing same.

Article VI. Defines the terms used in the act; transfers power of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission to the Public Service Commission and limits the effect of the unconstitutionaality of any section, sentence, clause or phrase.

FOOLED THE OFFICIAL.

Clever Trick a Daring Dacoit Played Upon an Englishman.

It was years ago in Burma. The English government was having trouble with a certain princely recalcitrant named Boh Toh, "the most daring and enterprising of the Dacoits." A heavy price had been set upon the rebel's head, but still Boh Toh was cunningly elusive.

At last, hard pressed, Boh Toh tried a new tack. He walked straight into the office of the commissioner.

"I am Boh Toh," he said simply. "I have come to surrender."

Exactly what he had counted on now happened. Fourteen years' experience with eastern subtlety and intrigue had taught the commissioner to be wary.

"Thank you," he said. "We will now proceed to discover who you really are and what you really want. Tell me, what do you expect to get out of this?"

"Ten thousand rupees," said the Boh quietly.

The commissioner, although a cool man, was a little staggered. "I don't quite follow," he murmured.

"Yet it's quite simple," whispered the Boh. "The government promises 10,000 rupees to the man who brings you the head of Boh Toh. I give it to you."

"Capital," was the wary answer. "But as you lose your head what good does the money do you?"

"My wife and children get the money."

"Pretty good, my man, but not quite good enough. Ten thousand rupees will be nothing to Boh Toh."

"If it were not I should not be here. I have been deserted and robbed. I am sure to be captured. My family might as well have the money while I can still command it."

"But why shouldn't I keep the money? I hand your head over, you know."

"Because you are an English gentleman. I chose my man, you see."

The commissioner mused awhile. Then he broke silence. "Look here, I know you are not the Boh. That is quite clear. I don't care who you are. But tell me frankly what you want."

The Burman hesitated awhile. Then he said: "You are right. But my life is worth as little as the Boh's. I have betrayed him and robbed him. He has sworn revenge. Give me an escort as far as Mandalay. Here, take these notes for 1,000 rupees"—he had laid them on the table—"and keep them if in twelve days' time I do not tell you how and when you can capture the Boh. Keep them till the Boh is caught if you prefer."

The commissioner thought hard and in silence for quite two minutes.

"I agree," he said at length.

So the Boh was safely escorted to Mandalay. Later the commissioner received a letter from him.

"You may keep those rupees," it ran, "which I, Boh Toh, left with you twelve days ago. I told you the truth. You would not believe me. The English government likes truth, and it likes money, but they never want both, I think, at the same time."—Youth's Companion.

The Most Crowded Street.

The supreme sensation of New York's east side is the sensation of the astounding populousness. The most populous street in the world—Rivington street—is a sight not to be forgotten. Compared to this, an uptown thoroughfare of crowded middle class flats in the open country is an uninhabited desert! The architecture seemed to sweat humanity at every window and door. The roadways were often impassible. The thought of the hidden interiors was terrifying. Indeed, the hidden interiors would not bear thinking about. The fancy shunned them—a problem not to be settled by sudden municipal edicts, but only by the efflux of generations.—Harper's Magazine.

Heroism of an Indian.

A few years ago in northern Mexico a truck carrying a load of dynamite for use at a mine was suddenly discovered to be on fire at a village station. The risk was imminent, so the driver of a locomotive engine picked the truck up and ran it away into the country at all the speed he could put on. He bade the brakeman jump off and save himself, adding, "I go to my death." When he had got a mile away the dynamite exploded. Every window in the village was broken, and he was blown to atoms, but the inhabitants were saved. He was a pure blooded Indian.—"South America," by James Bryce.

"What's Your Name?"—"What."

A guild of godparents to save children from incongruous names is being suggested. The late Canon Bardsley, author of a book on English names, told the story of what was probably the most idiotic name ever bestowed upon an unfortunate infant. A woman had her son baptized What, for no other reason than to cause amusement in future years when, being asked his name, he should reply "What."—London Chronicle.

Medical Note.

"Hello, Jones! I hear you were sick."

"Yes; I was threatened with a fever, but the doctor succeeded in arresting it."

"Ah, he arrested it for making threats, I suppose."—Boston Transcript.

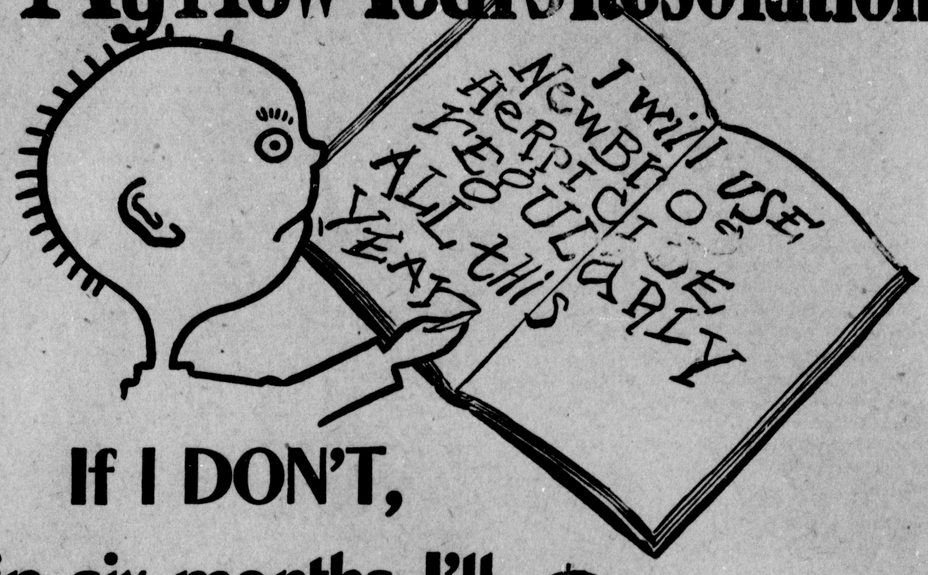

Good Reason.

"What on earth made you buy that comfortable when we have more now in the house than we need?"

"I guess it was because I saw it marked 'down.'"—Exchange.

My New Years Resolution

If I DON'T, in six months I'll look like this and eventually I'll look like this

Here is one New Year resolution that your pride, if nothing else, should make you keep. Don't become a life size reproduction of the Going! Going!! Gone!!!! boys. Keeping your hair is not a difficult task, but it is a task that must not be neglected.

The dandruff germ is always working, destroying the hair life and pushing the hairs out—some every day. The loss at first may not seem very alarming but, unless checked, the final result is the same, you are going to be totally bald.

The regular and intelligent use of Newbro's Herpicide is all you need. It will eradicate the dandruff and keep the hair and scalp in a clean, healthy condition. There is no more of the scale like accumulation and the hair stops coming out. The improvement is of a most extraordinary character and you will marvel at it.

You notice the change at once. The itching ceases almost immediately. The hair is bright, glossy and full of life. Herpicide is wonderful. It contains no grease, does not stain or dye and on account of its exquisite odor is a delightful hair dressing. You will like it.

A TRIAL BOTTLE AND BOOKLET FOR TEN CENTS.

One application of this remarkable and well-known toilet requisite is usually sufficient to convince the most skeptical of its great merit. A trial size bottle together with a booklet telling all about the hair will be sent to any address upon receipt of ten cents in postage or silver.

SEE COUPON.

Newbro's Herpicide is sold everywhere in two sizes—50c and $1.00 Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. Applications at the best barber shops and beauty parlors.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

The weather and roads are such that there is little traveling by auto now and many machines are being sent to the garages for overhauling and general repairs.

Wm. Frost of Winchester has brought his Oakland 40, model 1910 to Estaque's garage to be repaired.

George Thompson of Virginia has brought his Midland car to Estaque's to be overhauled.

M. W. Randolph, a Decatur rural free delivery mail carrier used an automobile, making his rounds in two and a half hours but he went once too often and the ice caught him so that when he was descending a hill with chains on all wheels his machine turned squarely around and he saved it and himself with difficulty.

Motor Age has a story which tells of the experiments on the kerosene carburetor. The test covered a distance of 2,000 miles, one-half on the road and the remainder on a track. The results were very gratifying.

The speeds ranged from six to fifty-one miles per hour. There were seventeen stops, one of forty-five minutes. The car was started nine times on kerosene and the remainder with the air of gasoline. The motor was allowed to idle, which it did without skipping, then speeded up to thirty-one miles per hour. An average of 20.90 miles per gallon was made on the kerosene test. The carburetor is adjusted to use either gasoline or kerosene and the car was equipped with a supply of both fuels. The objections of smutting was not marked in the test.

The success of this experiment will undoubtedly spur builders of American carburetors for the use of the cheaper and more abundant fuel is now of the most timely interest.

JUNIOR ETUDE CLUB.

The Junior Etude club met Saturday afternoon with Miss Catherine Rapp on North East street. There was a good attendance and a musical program was given.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Daimwood are here from Columbia, Tenn., to visit with Mrs. Daimwood's parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Arthur. They expect to go from here to California where they will make their home.

IS CRITICALLY ILL.

Mrs. Mary A. Wyatt of Virginia is reported critically ill with pneumonia at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. G. Cox on Caldwell street. Mrs. Wyatt is 86 years of age.

TONE OF STOCK MARKET IMPROVES

NO RECURRENCE OF WEAK PERIODS IN WHICH PRICES WERE DEPRESSED.

Improvement Was Largely Negative—Market Offered Better Resistance to Pressure But Gave no Indication of Sustained Strength.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Jan. 18.—Although the movement of stocks today was uncertain the tone of the market was better and there was no recurrence of the periods of acute weakness which depressed prices during the week to the lowest level since the fall of 1911. The improvement was largely negative and while the market offered better resistance to pressure, it gave no indication of sustained strength. Prices moved upward after the opening but the advance was interrupted by a renewal of bear selling. The attack was less successful than similar tactics early in the week and before the close the list advanced briskly. The general movement was narrow. Some of the specialties which have been depressed recently made substantial gains.

Further shifting of loans from out of town banks to local institutions which was chiefly responsible for the increase of more than $60,000,000 in loans last week, was reflected in today's bank statement. The actual table showed a loan increase of $33,000,000.

The cash gain of $15,000,000 was in line with expectations.

Although satisfactory gains in business over the corresponding period of last year were reported by the mercantile agencies, it was noted that the coming revision of the tariff was responsible for a feeling of conservatism. Large sales of copper were reported today and it was said that the cut in the price of the metal had stimulated the market at least temporarily.

Engagement of a small amount of gold for exportation to South America was without effect upon the money market in its present condition. Shipments to South America in connection with settlement of European obligations are not unusual at this time of the year.

A GOOD PRESCRIPTION.

For a Long Life

This the prescription for a long life given by an old gentleman in Conn., who is 99 years old and still well and cheerful—"Live temperately, be slow to anger, don't worry take plenty of exercise in the fresh aid, and above all keep cheerful."

Should the system get run down—digestive organs weak—the blood thin and sluggish take Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the medicinal—body-building properties of cods' livers, with the useless grease eliminated and tonic iron added. We regard Vinol as one of the greatest body-builders and strength creators in the world for aged people.

Mrs. Mary Ivey of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only know the good Vinol does old people you would be unable to supply the demand; it is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used."

We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. Lee P. Allcott, Druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.

P. S. If you have any skin trouble try Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

George Newman was among the Saturday visitors in the city from Woodson.

MARKETS HAVE FEATURELESS DAY

USUAL WEEK-END SITUATION—PRICES DECLINING SLIGHTLY

Weakness in Corn Was Based on Reports Were Selling Spot at Concessions Which Could Not be Met in Chicago.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Jan. 18.—All board of trade markets were dull and featureless today—the usual week-end situation, prices declining slightly. Cables being unchanged from Liverpool and advices generally without color, somebody started a story that the best known of the private crop prophets was preparing a bullish bulletin dealing with wheat. It helped prices until the prognosticator concerned published a formal denial. There was another report that one of the most influential traders was buying wheat and this was formally denied but not until it has caused a slight upward flurry. In general the point followed any important buying or selling orders and in the absence of these did not hang at all. Weakness in corn was based on reports that down-state points were selling spot at concessions which could not be met here and to the evaporation of the export demand. Cash corn declined ½c. Important longs were the best sellers and while those who took it checked the decline they found themselves well supplied when the session closed.

The dullness in oats was profound and the tone heavy in sympathy with corn. Provisions closed unchanged to five cents lower, a steady but dull market. Packers bought moderately from local traders. The western hog run for the week was 496,300 as against 544,000 the previous week and 708,900 a year ago.

DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION A PATRIOTIC ORGANIZATION

Their Part in the Social Revolution of Today Outlined in Valuable Paper by Mrs. David W. Reid

Editorial note—(The following paper by Mrs. David Reid was read at the December meeting of the D. A. R. It is published now by special request of the members of the chapter).

A revolution is a successful rebellion. A revolt against arbitrary rulings; a struggle; a victory and what English parliamentarians in the early seventies of the 18th century referred to in their debates as "The rebellion of our American colonies" was written down in history as the American revolution. Many an incipient revolution, strangled in its birth, has been recorded under the more opprobious title, as to take an instance again from our own history, the rebellion of the southern states which resulted in the civil war.

A rebellion is an acute manifestation of the general unrest which accompanies all growth. So long as there are two parties in every government, 'two sides,' as we say to every question, so long will the balance of control be continually shifting. The political and social world is in a state of unstable equilibrium. Unrest, insurrection, rebellion, revolution—greater or less in power and terror and extent—are all only manifestations of the vital creative force which is still active in the "making" of the world of men. Nations in their growth know many such movements, and prove them in the end to be not destructive, but beneficient.

A revolution is never a surface movement. It is an upheaval from the depths. Forces long pent, working slowly, resistlessly below the surface, burst suddenly, forth, volcano like, rending the bands of custom law and precedent which bound them.

We are today in the midst of a great social rebellion. The unrest of the masses, inoculated with the fundamental democratic doctrine of liberty and equality; the revolt against established custom, striking even at the ritual and doctrines of the church, and at the laws concerning marriage and divorce on which the home is founded; the rebellion against class distinction, all this unrest must in the end, whether by sudden violence or by gradual evolution, work out a change in social conditions amounting to a revolution. No decade within the memory of man has known a more vital struggle between wealth and privilege on the one hand and the masses of the people on the other; between monopoly and the trusts, and the roused hercules of labor.

Without sound of trumpet or beat of drum, the solid ranks of the proletariat advance to the stoning of the bastile of privilege. The forces of the besieged are weakened from within. Gradually the wealthy the leisured, the cultured—neglecting their defenses—are turning their energies to the task of equalizing the privileges of humanity. Incidents that have claimed the public attention during the past few months; cases of startling injustice such as the action of the officials of the White Star liners with regard to their employes, and the attitude of the railway company supported by the courts in a certain prominent railway accident case, have been like the writing on the wall in the banquet hall of Belshazzar. The banqueters themselves are startled into a realization of the injustice of their position. The heart of mankind has been touched as never before; indignation roused and sympathy awakened. There is born a stern determination to see—not mercy—but justice, meted out to every man. When the nation rises in its might, woe to the smitten; the hour of doom for some of human wrong has surely struck!

There is a present impetus from above as well as from below; a tidal wave as it were, resultant of spiritual as well as earthly forces. Our leaders are making the appeal for a "union of uplifting forces." It is an appeal to which all should be eager to respond. Statesmen and philanthropist, man and woman, young and old—all who hold high ideals and long for better things. It is a day of judgment. Individuals and organizations, political parties, governments, all are ranked, either as uplifting or retrogressive forces. Woman also is judged—for condemnation or approval

In every great progressive movement of the past, woman has had a part. In war her place has been a sad one. A non-combatant, she yet has borne in her own breast the wounds of battle. Unlike the women of the Canaille in the French revolution—fierce creatures who knew nor fear, nor pity; harpies, whose eyes blazed with hate and whose fingers strained to dip in human blood—the women of our own thrice blood washed land have been tender as well as brave.

In early colonial days, when the arrow of the savage was sped from unseen bow into the clearing about her home, or the tomahawk crashed through the frail barriers which sheltered her little ones, she stood loyally by the side of her defender and fought with almost equal strength and skill.

In the days of the revolution she took her brother's place at home, and carried on unflinchingly the struggle with the half-tamed wilderness. Food to supply her little family, and such clothing as they had, all must be provided by her hands. The scattered bands of devoted men, who forded icy streams and cut their way through trackless forests, carrying their old "flint locks," eager to "meet the foe," were out of reach of her ministrations; but whenever the battlefield was within reach, good cheer and needed supplies flowed in for the half-clothed and hungry men.

During the civil war no less of heroism and devotion was shown by the wives and mothers who scraped lint and rolled bandages, sewed and baked and prayed for the soldiers at the front. And when, as many times occurred, the tide of war swept over their villages or farms, they opened their bullet-torn homes for the shelter of the fallen, and with their own hands washed away the blood-stains and bound up the gaping wounds.

But these are not the only "battles" in which women have taken part. In all charitable, reformatory and philanthropic efforts they have been acknowledged leaders. Through their various organized clubs and associations they have acquired a certain advisory power—a secondary part" it has been termed—in state and municipal government.

For more than a century in this country woman has been receiving opportunities unequalled perhaps in human history. Her sphere of activiey has proportionately widened public offces and government opportunities are now open to her, as well as the fruitful fields of education law, medicine and journalism. Society, like a harsh creditor, demands of her in payment for her opportunities, all that she has to give. It demands that this "distinctive intelligence", which she has acquired be made available for social and civic usefulness.

But the women of this higher or educated class, are but a small fraction of the number in the ranks of industry.

Nearly one fourth of all the women of the United States are now in the producing class—a phalanx 6,000,000 strong. That the home-maker does not perform the same primitive duties in the home that were hers in colonial days, does not show that she is idle. She has laid aside the spindle and the loom, but has grasped instead the multiform "weapons" of industry. Her hand is trained as never before—a strong and supple hand reached out in instant response to the demand for reciprocity or the appeal for aid.

But the brave attempt to adjust themselves to changed conditions has cost these women, many of them all chance of having homes of their own. It is said that a woman cannot work for five years in any but the highest forms of organized industry and still remain capable of discharging the functions of womanhood. Industry is "merciless to its human machinery." The majority of those who work are young. At the end of five or ten years' service, at the natural time of marriage, they are not only untrained as housekeepers, but they are unfitted to bear children. That which alone renders woman unique and indispensable among mankind to her potential motherhood. Is this a loss to the American women? Is the "chance" that has been given her to cast this bitter price?

Woman does not wish to "be a problem". But she is to day facing problems more complex than she herself can solve. It is clear that to protect her own existence she must preserve for to, herself the sacred fuctions of motherhood. The college woman—that is, in a broad sense, the educated and the thinking woman—must fend for the woman in industry as well as for the woman in the slums while the children of the nation still continue to be her charge.

In order to protect these most effectively, the more advanced among our workers are looking toward enfranchisement for women. But these should be first to place themselves on record as condemning the violent and unwomanly demonstrations by which a certain class of women to day are seeking to secure "female" suffrage.

Our conservatism on this question has made it clear that if our American women as a class ever demand the ballot it will be as a means and not as an end. It will be with no vain desire to secure our "privileges" or to increase our duties; but to procure for ourselves the means of enforcing our just demands. We have handled sterner weapons than the ballot, but never have we fought in a more bitter war, or a more sacred cause.

The women who feel most deeply the need of the ballot as a weapon for reform are those also who are most keenly alive to the dangers of increasing the class of ignorant voters. Even if the mass of women compare favorably with men in education and intelligence what will be the gain in doubling the number of blind voters? From the sudden enfranchisement of the negro uneducated, and unprepared for the duties of citizenship has come some of the most bitter sequelai of the civil war. Woman is prepared to ask that she be required to study the fundamental principles of government, and graduate into citizenship. As a body she would be to day impotent for the handling of municipal affairs and the improvement of economic conditions.

But by the side of such questions as we have been considering, this of woman's suffrage is but a minor problem. It concerns woman only as it concerns her brother: no more The deeper issue vitally concerns both, for upon its outcome rests the ultimated fate of our nation. That there will be a people here so long as our land remains is certain. That it shall be our people is for the future to decided.

Conservation of human life, improvement of Industrial conditions. Equalization of the rewards of labor —these are some of the vital questions for whose solution the best energes of both the manhood and the womanshood of the nation should be expended.

If it is true that the American woman is proving herself a failure in her chief function—what Mrs. Wilsie, writting recently on the problem of immigration has called her "job of motherhood"—there may be something of the energy of despair, as well as much of the desire for restitution, in the service which the woman of the leisure class renders to those more burdened than herself. This may indeed lie at the bottom of the great impetus for social service which has drawn thousands of women of independent means practically into the ranks of the working class. It has been keenly said that "They who make half revolutions dig their own graves." The Angelo-American woman must either revolutionize her own habits, conditions and ideals of life or go down nto obligation with her anaemic children and her unborn babies.

Since woman has come to face thus gravely the problems before her, the character and ideals of her various organizations, affiliations have fundamentally changed. It is no longer woman and woman's work.

More and more the idea of social service for national good has taken hold upon the sisterhood; and with their broader outlook their methods of work have materially altered. There are, and will be, local study clubs and social circles; but the clubs and associations most flourishing in this decade are those which most efficiently co-operate in the moral and economic movements of the time. The great co-ordinated state and national organizations must all be measured by this consummate standard—and is it not well that they must stand or fall according as they meet it?

Let us for a moment consider the D. A. R. as one among such organizations, and see if we are able to "prove up."

The national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution was incorporated in 1896, as a patriotic body of women directly descended from the men who were virtually the founders of our free commonwealth —the heroes of the revolutionary days. As the most of us know, it was organized a few years earlier than this.

It is not—cannot be—therefore, an exclusive social aristocracy but is essentially a Democratic institution. The only aristocracy recognized is that of connection with men devoted to their country in her time of need, whatever their means or their position in society may have been. The greater number of these men were of the common people, as are the great body of their descendants. It is true that our national society is officered by wealth; because both leisure and means are required for this special service; but what would be the weight of this small group of leaders, except for the great body of members behind them? Social position does not, in theory, stand as a criterion of membership, and should not, in fact, be allowed to restrict the bounds or limit the usefulness of a society founded specifically for the promotion of national and civic interests and the development of a higher class of citizenship.

The patriotic organization, like the patriot woman, is one which exists not merely to preserve the worthy traditions of the past, but to help apply those traditions to the solution of the vexed questions of the present day, and pass them on unimpaired to future generations.

According to the statement made in its constitution, the D. A. R. was designed to "perpetuate the memory and the spirit of the men and women who achieved American independence."

"What is the value," are we asked, "in marking obscure graves with the half-forgotten names of commn men, whose bodies a century since have crumbled into dust?" We answer: It is an aid in preserving the spirit of patriotism, of devotion, of self-sacrifice with which these men were inspired. This spirit should indeed be treasured not alone by their descendants but by their country, as a precious perfume in the golden urn of memory.

Another aid suggested in the constitution preserving this spirit of patriotism is the "promotion of celebrations of patriotic anniversaries" and perhaps no better means could be devised of keeping fresh and vivid the memory of great historic deeds and events than this, which is just becoming recognized. It is possible thus to present in glowing colors to the impressionable mind of youth—in pageant or in drama—the great scenes in our nation's history. Their hearts are made to thrill with the self-same spirit of noble aspiration and heroic self-devotion which won us victory and freedom.

There is one anniversary in particular, that of the day of our nation's birth—the 4th of July—which should be reclaimed from a senseless and dangerous orgie to some form of beautiful and inspiring celebration. The D. A. R. by its own specification would seem peculiarly fitted to lead in the present movement for a "safe and sane Fourth." A first step was taken in this direction two years ago, when our local chapter brought the subject before the District Federation of Woman's club at their meeting in Jacksonville with a resolution endorsing the movement and on the 4th of July following with an address by our regent, Miss Effie Epler, presented a beautiful flag to the city. May we not hope that something will be done in this direction before another season passes?

But let us read again from our constitution and we find much more before us. Our society is to "promote institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge." Knowledge, however, as a means, not as an end; a means for "developing an enlightened public opinion," and for giving advantages to young and old such as shall "develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens." "Capacity" then, both mental and physical.

The D. A. R. it seems is specifically formed to bear the burdens of the present. It has made its own all movements tending to give an impetus to schools and libraries. It would support, as a means of instructing citizens, classes or lectures on the fundamental principles of government or for the study of civic and municipal questions. It has also a legitimate part in local, civic affairs. Health commissions, city officials, school boards, all that tends to the upbuilding of the physical condition of dependent citizens, and the bettering of such conditions as are a menace to the health and the virture of a community. Can it be that the founders of our organization were wiser than they knew? For when they add, to "foster true patriotism and love of country," and to "secure for mankind all the blessings of liberty," we see that the work that is open to this society as wide as human need. There are but few modern civic and philanthropic movements for the uplifting of humanity but come directly within its province. "Or did that body of patriotic women, representing nearly half the states of the union, look far ahead to the time when all the graves of "76 should be marked; when all the tablets in memoriam should be inscribed; to the day when the making of citizens to worthily preserve the independence so dearly won, should come to seem to us of paramount importance? Because it strikes its roots deep in the past, we think—do we not?—of the D. A. R. as old. We speak of "precedent" and what we "do" or "do not do." But it is very young—not yet eighteen. We have not begun to work out all that was included in its declaration of principles and aims. It is still in the formative stage, and like many another citizen just coming into its majority, must establish its right to citizenship.

Let us make of it a vital organization. No body that depends wholly upon its past, still less, one that depends wholly upon the past of its ancestors, can long exist. Even so fundamental a body as the English house of lords is threatened with dissolution, because of its failure to keep in touch with the living issues of the country.

When shall we come into our own? Let us not fear virility; only extinction. To take a part in the vital struggle of mankind for the blessings of liberty; to aid the weak against the strong; to champion the cause of down-trodden as against the oppression. Let this be our work. And may we stand according to our wisdom and our strength, accordingly as our hearts are open to the "Song of those within the desert places,

The dull, the strange, the erring of all lands,
Who face the future with despairing faces
And hold forth pleading, unavailing hands.

"The heirs of poverty, the slaves of weakness,
The arrogant who will not heed commands;
The spiritless, who wear a coward's ness,
The desperate, who spill life's creeping sands.

"Oh! holders of the prized and vantage places,
Oh! sharers of the peaceful happy days;
Oh! scions of the wise and favored races,
Oh! revelers along the sunny ways.

"I beg a moment's pause, with earnest faces,
That common blood and fatherhood demands;
A prayer for those within the dreary places,
Who stretch forth pleading, unavailing hands."

FROM THE FAR NORTH.

B. T. Rimbey of Rimbey, Alberta, Canada, is in the county visiting his brother R. D. Rimbey and other friends. He has been in his Canadian home thirteen years and, is quite prominent there, so much that the town near which he lives was named for him. Among others from this county up there are Mr. Rimbey's brothers Samuel and James, James Jefferson, Henry Watts and others. Mr. Rimbey says where he lives they get the benefit of the ocean currents and winds so that their climate is fairly temperate and they can work the year around. Interment was made in Calvary cemetery and the bearers were: Thomas Casey, Edward German, Michael Carrigan, Hugh Hayden, William Morrissey and Maurice Corrigan.

DeSilva.

Eleanor Lucille DeSilva, the eleven weeks old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeSilva, died at the residence of her parents, 826 North Main street Saturday morning at 11:45 o'clock after a brief illness with pneumonia. She is survived by her parents, two sisters. Helen and Mildred, and one brother, Charles.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence and interment will be made in Jacksonville cemetery.

Walls.

The remains of Mrs. Sarah A. Walls will be sent to Indianola this evening at 8:28 o'clock via the Wabash, where funeral services will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Indianola cemetery.

Grote.

William A. Grote, a well known citizen of Morgan county, residing 2 miles north of Nortonvlle died Friday morning at 3 o'clock. He was born in Herepodshire, England, Feb. 9, 1847 and came to this county in 1881 settling near Pisgah. In 1890 he was married to Sarah A. Watkins and one daughter was born to this union, Mrs. Hattie Long. He was christened in the Church in England but on coming to Pisgah united with the Union Baptist church of that place.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 11 o'clock from the Pisgah church and interment will be made in the adjoining cemetery.

Groves.

Mrs. Mary Ranson Groves passed from earth at noon Saturday at her home on Webster avenue. Mrs. Groves had been in failing health for some time but her final illness was of but a few days duration. The seriousness of her condition was recognized by the family and when the peaceful end came it was not unexpected.

Mrs. Groves was widely connected, having a large number of relatives in this vicinity and elsewhere. Her parents were James and Sarah Ranson and it will be remembered that her father lacked but a few years of the century mark when he passed away. He came here from England at an early day and his daughter Mary was born on the farm near the Point, Oct. 25, 1838, and grew to womanhood in the west part of the county, enjoying a Christian home and all the advantages of the neighborhood.

She was married to James Groves March 6, 1862, and for years the family home was on a farm in the Point neighborhood. In 1895 Mr. Groves retired from the farm and with his family came to Jacksonville. Two years later Mr. Groves passed to the other world. Two children died in infancy and those surviving are Miss Sarah E. Groves, W. B. Groves, Jas. A. Groves, Mrs. H. D. Atkins and Alvin H. Groves, the last mentioned now residing in Seattle, Wash. A stepson is John A. Groves, who was but a small child when his father married the second time and he has known only the one just deceased as mother and she was all to him that heart could wish and he loved her devotedly. He is now in Odessa, Russia, representing the Parlin-Orendorf company. Surviving brothers of Mrs. Groves are James and Charles Ranson of this city, Peter and Robert of the county and William of Wichita, Kan. Two brothers, John and George, and three sisters, Mrs. Geo. Hayden, Mrs. Isaac Watson and Mrs. Jonathan Middleton, are dead.

In early life Mrs. Groves was converted and united with the Methodist church near her place of residence and when she moved to the city she became a member of Grace M. E. church and was active as long as her health would permit in aiding in all departments of the church work.

She was a devoted mother, a faithful wife, a sincere and kind friend and neighbor and was widely beloved and respected.

The date for the funeral has not yet been announced.

TOURNAMENT IN JACKSONVILLE

BASKETBALL TEAMS TO MEET HERE IN FEBRUARY.

Championship Title of the Amateur Teams of Western Illinois Will be Decided—Rules Governing Tourney of Last Two Years to be Used—Fourteen Towns to be Represented.

Heeding the clamor of a large number of towns of this part of the state for a high school basketball tournament to be held in this city, the local high school authorities have decided to hold such a gathering here the latter part of next month, at which time the title for the basketball championship of western Illinois will be decided.

Ever since it was announced that the district tournament was to be held in Canton, the various teams of this section, with Jacksonville included, have been figuring out how they could send a team there on account of the big expense, in some cases running over $70. Several of the towns who have been accustomed to sending a representative team at the district meet, have written the local high school management asking why a tournament could not be held here as before.

Schools to Participate.

The schools who are expected to take part here and to whom invitations have been and will be sent, are as follows:

Jacksonville.
Pittsfield.
Beardstown.
Griggsville.
Petersburg.
Mt. Sterling.
Virginia.
Roodhouse.
White Hall.
Manchester.
Routt College High.
Chandlerville.
Barry.
Litchfield.

To Assure Expenses.

Aside from these fourteen schools there may be one or two more included in the list. There is no mistake about Jacksonville being the logical geographical point for holding the tournament, having splendid train service and easily accessible from every direction.

As has been the custom in the past two years, Jacksonville expects to meet all the expenses of the visiting teams while here, and it will cost no team more than $2 during the two days' tournament.

Attendance is Good.

Figures issued from the various district tournaments held in Illinois the past two years shows that Jacksonville has outclassed all in attendance. The attendance at the tournament here, in fact, went beyond the expectations of the most conservative. It will be remembered last year that the interest was so keen that several men who were far past the 50 year mark sat on the bleachers and watched many of the games to say nothing of a mother who came with her child in her arms, and visitors from nearby towns, including many who came with the teams, were among the fans.

Floor Excellent For Game.

The teams who have played on the local floor have declared it the best in the country. It is large, well lighted and every advantage is given the players. Its seating capacity is another commendable point and the fact that not a word of complaint was heard from the many teams who have been here speaks for itself.

To Honor Winners.

Prizes will be provided for the winners in the contest. A handsome silver loving cup will be given the team winning first place, a handsome banner for second place and also a prize for the third team. Several of the business men have been greatly interested in basketball and some have signified their intentions of contributing toward the prizes. Illinois college is also interested in the tournament and it will be remembered that last season when Canton won the meet, that the team was presented a beautiful banner by Illinois. Sometime after the tournament Coach Harmon took the banner over to Canton and presented it in person. It would be needless to say anything about the interest that the local high school students take in the tournament and of the splendid reception they give all visiting teams. There is no more enthusiastic boosters for athletics in the country than in Jacksonville and with the school as a unit back of the tournament its success is already assured.

Canton Out of District.

Secretary Ehrman of the high school state association stated in previous correspondence that if a case demanded it there would probably be another tournament aside from those already slated and from all indications Jacksonville will be one of the sub-divisions; if not the tournament will be held here just the same. Canton is practically out of this district as is Ipava and another town or two in that section of the state. Financially, Jacksonville will not be able to send a team to Canton and as was stated above several of the other towns are in the same boat.

Principal Gore is an ardent athletic supporter and has faith that the tournament here will be one of the best ever held. Coach Buland is also heartily in favor of the plan of making Jacksonville a center for the various schools who are anxious to come here for a contest and with everybody pulling the meet is bound to be the big success which it heretofore has been.

U. S. TROOPS TAKE POSSESSION OF LACKAWANNA R. R. PIER

Government Claims Railroad Occupies Frontage on Government Land and the Railroad Has Refused to Vacate.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Acting under orders of the war department, Company B, of the 29th infantry, stationed at Fort Porter today took possession of the Lackawanna railroad pier at the mouth of the Buffalo river. The troops camped on the pier.

The government claims the railroad occupies 15 feet frontage on government land and the railroad has refused to vacate. Possession of this pier has been disputed between the war department and the railroad for some time. Negotiations between the railroad and the department of justice of several months duration have failed to bring about a settlement.

Dispute of Many Years.

Washington, Jan. 18—The federal soldiers were ordered to take posession of the "North Pier" at Buffalo by Secretary of War Stimson at the request of Attorney General Wickersham. The government has disputed the Lackawanna railroad's right to the pier for many years. The department of justice is said to have convinced the secretary of war that the United States had a clear claim to the property and R. T. Strickland, an attorney of the department left Washington a few days ago for Buffalo with Secretary Stimson's order. United States Attorney O'Brian, at Buffalo, consulted the attorney general several times in the government's efforts to eject the railroad.

The government's claim to ownership of the pier, it is said, is based upon more than 50 years continuous undisputed occupancy.

The pier was acquired by the United States in 1826 and no question of ownership was raised until 1878 when it is declared the railroad became a squatter and acquired a foothold.

In 1910 an order was issued by the government forbidding the railroad boats to dock at the controverted pier. Permits since, however, have been issued by the war department, granting temporary occupancy of property. The last permit expired in December and was not renewed. The wharf was used for the landing of the government supplies and equipment for harbor improvements. It was charged that the railroad boats were an obstruction to navigation.

Any ladies' or gentlemen's suit thoroughly cleaned and pressed Monday for 85c. All goods called for and delivered.

SPRINGFIELD ENJOYING LULL

Practically All Legislators at Home Saturday—Expects Stomr Tuesday.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—With all the members of the legislature away from the capital, either spending the week end adjournment at home with their constitutents or in Chicago with the Democratic leaders, Springfield today is quietly enjoying the lull before the storm, which is expected to break next week.

Upon re-assembling on Tuesday the house will resume balloting on the speakership. This is the day, under ordinary conditions, fixed by the constitution when the separate houses shall ballot for United States senator. If no election occurs in the separate houses the constiution proves that on the following day the two houses shall meet in joint session at noon, the speaker presiding, to again ballot for senator.

Unless the deadlock in the house is broken early Tuesday by the election of a speaker, and there are no indications now that the deadlock will be broken then, the legislative situation will become more complex. Many members believe that the separate houses cannot ballot for senator until the house had elected a speaker, but so far the question is a mooted one. It is probable that the separate houses will be called upon to decide whether the senatorial balloting shall begin on Tuesday or be postponed until the house is permanently organized.

REBEL AGAINST SETTLEMENT

New York Shirt Waist Employes Want More Than Ten Per Cent Increase.

New York, Jan. 18.—As announced settlement today of the strike in the dress and shirt waist branch of the garment making industry, promising to send 37,000 operatives back to work Monday, was followed almost at once by rebellion among employes affected, against the terms their leaders had agreed upon with the manufacturers. These terms provide a ten per cent increase in wages, but the strikers want more.

Conditions tonight make it doubtful whether the dress and shirtwaist makers will accept.

In other trades the strike is still on, affecting more than 100,000 men and women.

SUICIDES IN CHICAGO RIVER.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—A good-natured man committed suicide by jumping into the Chicago river today. His body was recovered but he has not been identified.

Passengers on a street car which was crossing the Fullerton avenue bridge over the river first noticed him standing on top of a rail carefully balancing himself. He smiled at the passengers and waved his hand. Just then Mrs. Anna Leubke approached him. He turned, bowed, smiled and removed his hat. Then he jumped into the water.

WILL GIVE LECTURE ON GASTRIC DIGESTION

Dr. Jesse S. Myer of Washington University Will Tell of Dr. Beaumont and His Great Classical Researches.

Dr. Jesse S. Myer of the Washington university, St. Louis, Mo., will be the guest of the Library Association of Morgan County Medical society at a 6 o'clock dinner to be given at the Peacock Friday evening.

At 8 o'clock Dr. Myer will give a stereopticon lecture on the subject of Dr. William Beaumont and his classical researches in "Gastric Digestion." Almost every school physiology contains the name of Dr. Beaumont and especially of his patient, Alexis St. Martin, a soldier, who was shot in the stomach and a permanent opening remained through which Dr. Beaumont was enabled to study the processes of digestion and practically all the valuable information which we have today are the results of these studies.

While Dr. Myer comes under the auspices of the Morgan County Medical society and the subject at first thought would seem to be a purely medical one, yet it will have an interest to everyone. The Medical Library association wishes to say that all teachers and others who may be interested will be welcome and are invited to attend the lecture at the public library. It is also suggested that it would be of interest to students who are studying physiology in the schools.

Dr. Beaumont must be classed as one of America's great men who has, by his personal efforts, added new information to the world's thought. As usual, in such cases, the work of Dr. Beaumont was done under very trying circumstances and in the face of great obstacles. The public will be cordially invited to hear Dr. Myer.
